JUDGE DEWEY OWN LAWYER IN INSANITY CASE

At the insanity trial of ex-Judge Henry G. Dewey of the Boston Municipal Court before Judge Grant in the Probate Court today Henry F. Hurlburt, a Boston attorney, testified that Dewey once told him that "somebody would have to take a gun to the judges."

Mr. Hurlburt said:

"Just before the Good Government Association case we were on opposite sides in another suit. At our conference Judge Dewey often branched off on the Good Government Association case. He said he was going to have a hard time in getting justice in the case, because the judges on the bench had drifted away from the constitution and the natural and proper law. He said somebody, some day, would have to take a gun to them, but he hoped that in his case it would not be that bad."

Acts as His Own Lawyer.

Dewey defended his sanity himself, without other counsel. When asked by Judge Grant if he had counsel he said:

"I was brought here under arrest and was asked to take this seat at his side. I will represent myself as well as I can."

A feature of the morning session was Dewey's insisting on reading a long bill of exceptions and pleadings which he had made in another case and which was submitted by Assistant District Attorney Weber in evidence. The reading took fifty-two minutes, though Judge Grant repeatedly requested Dewey to let it go till later. At one time, when Judge Grant referred to the "Court's discretion," Dewey interrupted, saying:

"Discretion means wisdom and prudence. It is not proper for the Judge, in his own caprice, to stop the reading of a document presented by counsel in a case and admitted as evidence."

While the first witness, Edward Mc-Lellan of the law firm of Brandeis, Dunbar & Nutter, was giving his opening testimony, Judge Dewey objected three times. Twice his objections were overruled by Judge Grant.

Before the hearing began a reporter, who did not know Judge Dewey by sight, upset him sitting at the counsel table. The reporter asked: "Do you represent Judge Dewey?"

"I am Judge Dewey," replied the defendant.

"Then the joke is on me," said the reporter.

"Yes," replied Dewey, "you are lucky to get yours now. I'll get mine later."

Arrested January 31.

Ex-Judge Henry S. Dewey is one of the best-known men in Greater Boston. He was on the municipal bench several years, finally resigning to take up private practice. He was candidate for Mayor, campaigning in evening clothes. He is a former brigadier-general of the State militia and a former chairman of the Massachusetts Board of Bar Examiners.

On January 31 he was arrested at the Suffolk court house on a warrant sworn out by Charles Gaynor, institution register for the city. The warrant alleged that Dewey is insane. He was taken in custody by Inspector Cronin.

The newspaper reports said that Dewey showed inclination to resist arrest. He was taken to the Insane Hospital at Pierce Farm. There he has been in a psychopathic ward under observation by Dr. E. B. Lane and Dr. L. A. Roberts.

For the trial Judge Grant named Assistant District Attorney Abraham Webber to represent Gaynor, the petitioner. The court room was jammed when the case opened. Many lawyers were present. Among the government witnesses were Chief Justice Bolster and Associate Judges Ely and Wentworth of the Municipal bench, of which Dewey was formerly a member.

Dewey came into court wearing a fur coat over his dark coat and striped trousers. He took a chair at the counsel table and was waiting for the case to be called when the conversation with the reporter, as recorded above, took place.

Judge Dewey Objects.

Edward McLellan, the first witness, began his testimony by saying:

"I have been in law practice sixteen years—"

Then Judge Grant asked Dewey if he had counsel with the reply given as quoted above.

KING FREDERICK BETTER.

COPENHAGEN, Feb. 9.—The condition of King Frederick of Denmark, who is suffering from inflammation of the lungs, continues to improve.

MAYOR SCORES METHODS OF THE FINANCE BOARD

Replying to the Finance Commission for its criticism of his last four appointments to the collecting department, Mayor Fitzgerald today wielded the big stick and charged Chairman John A. Sullivan of the commission with attempting to snatch records in comparison with which "this own smells to Heaven."

He charges that the army of "students" who worked for the city was greatest in the history of the city at the time that John A. Sullivan was in politics, and that this phase of municipal administration reached its height in the effort to make Mr. Sullivan a member of Congress.

He says that he does not consider it a crime for any man to be a friend of his and intimates that he may be visited with the same ignominy that has come to Sullivan and other members of the Finance Commission if he ever repudiates the men who have helped him rise to a position of prominence in public life.

Reward for Billings.

He says that James J. Storrow rewarded Edmund Billings, his campaign manager, with an appointment to an $8,000 job; that Robert J. Bottomley, assistant campaign manager, was given a job at $3,500 per year; that George A. O. Ernst was handed a position at $5,000 per year as head of the Bureau of Municipal Research, wholly for political activity, and that George S. Burgess of Lynn has been given a $3,750 position in the school department as a reward for his political work. All of these appointments are in violation of the very spirit in which the commission criticises the Mayor's office, he declares.

He says that the commission only puts before the public that portion of a case which suits their own purposes and supports their argument.

Referring to his appointment of four men to the collecting department, which action the commission criticised, the Mayor says that they take the place of three men formerly employed in the department and that their employment is at a figure which makes no increase in the department appropriation.

"I hope when the day comes," says the Mayor, "that I take away the ladder on which I mounted into public life by refusing to appoint men whose character is exemplary and ability good because they supported me for public office. I may be visited with the ignominy which has come to John A. Sullivan and some of his brethren in the Finance Commission among those who know them best."

Here is the Mayor's statement in full:

The Mayor's Statement.

"It is a very easy matter for the Finance Commission to make a case against any official if it wants to because of the manner in which questions are put, and its practice of putting before the public only that portion of it which suits their purpose. Every thinking citizen knows that part of a statement made by any human being that he would can be made to read so as to convict him if it best to do so, by suppressing the truth.

"It is true that the first suggestion of recent appointments made in the collector's office was in a newspaper article. There is nothing strange in this. There are eight men in City Hall every day whose business it is to look for information, and a good deal of the time their stories are pure guess work, and it is not strange that in the present instance they guessed two out of the four men who were to be appointed. The men appointed and others had been candidates for months, and no 1 said anything. It is not strange that a statement appeared in the newspapers guessing 50 per cent. right.

"The statement that three appointments were made at this time to anticipate the passage of a law at the State House, putting the Collector's Office under Civil Service, is not true. There were three vacancies in the Collector's Office; one caused by death, another caused by a transfer to the Election Department to fill the place of a clerk who had died, and the other caused by the resignation of a man who, in his eighteenth year, resigned to Pulpit but at my request continued until the end of the year."

Favors Civil Service.

"The way no deputy collector appointed at $1,800 a year, the statement of the Finance Commission to the contrary. A deputy collector was appointed at $1,400 a year, a clerk at $1,600 a year, and two clerks at $1,000 a year; four men in place of three, but with no increase in the total.

"I have endeavored, both in my former administration and in this, to put the Collector's office on a firm Treasury basis under Civil Service, and have directed the Law Department to advocate these bills. The fault is not mine, but the Legislature's, that the office is not under Civil Service. Therefore, when vacancies are to be filled, they must be filled outside of Civil Service, and I do not consider it a crime against any man that he has been a friend of mine if he is properly qualified to fill the office.

Test of Efficiency.

"The best test of efficiency is the record of the office itself, and at the end of this statement I will append a schedule showing the percentage of taxes collected during the past ten years, which speaks

780 VOTES FOR TAFT CLAIMED

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 9.—Claims were made today by the Taft managers that the fight for the renomination of the President is already won. After a conference between Senator Crane of Massachusetts, Senator Penrose of Pennsylvania and Secretary Hilles, a statement was authorized that Taft would have in the Chicago convention 780 votes as the matter now stands. They concede only about 300 votes to the opposition.

The whole list of States was canvassed by the two Senators and the secretary and they are now convinced that the opposition cannot possibly prevent the nomination of the President on the first ballot.

HAWLEY MADE WEDDING PLANS

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Mrs. Adeline Crandall, wife of Frederick Crandall, the cast-off nephew of Edwin Hawley, who may inherit nearly $2,000,000 from the estate of the late railroad magnate, was released from Blackwells Island today after serving a term for "disorderly conduct and malicious mischief." Mrs. Crandall was sent to prison for smashing down a door in a tenement house brawl at No. 2,510 Eighth avenue on January 20.

Mrs. Crandall had been apprised of her husband's good fortune, but she left the island and was in a happy frame of mind when she reached New York. Her five children are in Chatham, N. Y., where they were sent to be cared for until their mother was released from prison.

It was Crandall's courtship of his wife, while she was Adeline McManus, a telegraph operator on the Union Pacific, that led to the break between Mr. Hawley and his nephew.

PLAY BY YOUNGSTERS OF BRIGHTON CHURCH

Thirty-four young people connected either with the choir or Sunday school of St. Margaret's Church, Brighton, gave an entertainment last night in the parish house on Eastburn street. The "Mother Goose" play was in charge of Miss Ethel Dinez, daughter of Rev. Joseph Dinez, of Hanover, assisted by Miss Helena G. Waterfall, Mrs. Mudge and Miss Jessie Jennings. In the cast were Malcom Clifford, Dorothy Edwards, Thelma Cooper, Harold Blaker, Robert Boyer, Marion Brown, Roger Prout, Myrtle Cooper, Doris Lindsey, Lawrence Blaker, Lillian Hall, Frederick Brown, Mary Lindsey, Charles Walsh, Ernest Waterfall, Gertrude Crandall, Ralph Hutchins, Gertrude Clifford, Arthur Waterfall, Dorothy Crawley, Isabel Waterfall, Bessie Lindsey, Warren Clifford, Edith Battis, George Blaker, John Whitten, William Lundell, George Kendall, Carl Berg and Charlie Waterfall.

DICTAGRAPH TESTED IN LORIMER INQUIRY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—The Lorimer investigating committee went into executive session today for the purpose of testing the dictagraph and the ability of James K. Sheridan, the young stenographer in charge of the Burns Detective Agency, to report a conversation over it. The test took place in Senator Dillingham's room in the Senate office building, and the staging for the experiment was as nearly as possible a reproduction of the conditions surrounding Sheridan's alleged report of the Browne-Bailey-Kerr conversation in the King Edward Hotel in Toronto.

FIGHT INVASION OF THE COMMON

The Boston Common Society held a meeting today in the office of James A. Lowell, in the Equitable Building and protested against building of a city pumping station on Boston Common. In his address before the members, Myron E. Pearce, chairman, said:

"The proposed site which Mr. Rourke has named for the new high water pumping station on Boston Common is the old parade ground, where the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company holds its drum-head meetings.

"So many attempts to encroach upon this spot have been made with the intent to erect city buildings that in 1877 people arose and went to the Legislature. They had a bill passed forbidding the erecting on any public park, especially Boston Common, of any city building.

"This particular spot on the Common where Mr. Rourke desires to put this building is the same spot that was concerned in opposition of many people in 1877.

"I believe that the Mayor is with us in this opposition, as he has always had a fitting appreciation of the historical monuments of Boston, and I feel very sure that he will not endorse any movement that would interfere with the beauty of this popular spot. I urge every member of this society to get all to protest against this act of desecration of the Common. Whatever opposition we can bring to bear will bring this matter before the public, who certainly do not approve of any such scheme."

The officers of the Boston Common Society are: Edward Glaz, president ex-officio; Myron E. Pearce, chairman; William J. Richards, Rev. Edward A. Horton and Marcus B. Bennis, executive committee.

WOMAN BEFORE STEEL INQUIRY

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 9.—Domestic conditions in the mill town of Homestead, Pa., where the steel workers who gave Andrew Carnegie the nucleus of his wealth, live and labor, were described to the Stanley Steel Committee today. Miss Margaret Byington of the Pittsburg Survey was the witness.

She is the first woman who has appeared before the Stanley investigators, and one of the few who have testified on important industrial subjects before any committee of Congress.

President James J. Wilie of the United Mine Workers of America will be heard before the committee reaches the testimony of James J. Hill, who is to go on Monday.

Miss Byington told the committee during the Winter of 1907-8 she obtained the domestic accounts of ninety families among the mill workers of Homestead.

AMERICAN MAIL STOLEN IN ITALY

NAPLES, Feb. 9.—A number of American mail bags, which arrived here by way of Havre, France, containing registered mail and remittances from Italian emigrants in America for their families in Sicily, and which had been dispatched after they left Naples. It is believed that the bags were stolen from the mail boat Perseo, which was taking them to Palermo.

HURT IN CRASH OF STREET CARS

A motorman was slightly injured and two cars were badly smashed today in a collision in Codman square, Dorchester, between an outward bound Meeting House Hill car and in an inward bound car from Talbot avenue. There were no passengers on either car. The motorman on the Meeting House Hill car was bruised and cut by flying glass. The vestibule of his car was wrecked. The Talbot avenue car was knocked from its tracks to the street.

The Meeting House Hill trolley was proceeding to the Dorchester carbarn across the Codman square tracks. A car ahead prevented the motorman from seeing the Talbott avenue car, with the result that the latter was struck squarely in the centre. The accident fired up traffic at the square for nearly an hour.

FIVE FREED FROM COLONY AT SHILOH

LISBON FALLS, Me., Feb. 9.—Mrs. Gott, her three children and her aged mother, who made their escape from a house at Shiloh, where they had been confined, by jumping from a window, declare the trouble was caused by the aged woman's refusal to turn over her money to the Holy Ghost and Us colony.

They ran to the home of G. F. Crockett, a mile away, pursued by members of the colony, but reached the place just in time to rush in and lock the doors. The pursuers returned to the "Hilton."

PROVIDENCE WILL AID BOSTON PORT

Mayor Henry Fletcher of Providence, speaking at the banquet of the Victorian Club at the Hotel Westminster, promised that his city will co-operate with Boston and New London in booming New England.

Hugh Bancroft, chairman of the Port Directors, spoke of development of the port and urged fairer railroad rates from the West for Boston.

DR. AKED'S HOUSE ROBBED OF JEWELS

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 9.—Detectives are seeking a clew to the burglar who forced his way into the residence of Dr. Charles F. Aked, formerly of New York and now pastor of the First Congregational Church, and got away with $68 and more than $500 worth of jewelry. The burglary took place while Dr. Aked was preaching at a midweek service.

HIGH RENT, HIGH UP, FOR LAWYERS' CLUB

HAYWOOD BALKS IN ETTOR TRIAL

LAWRENCE, Feb. 9.—District Attorney Atwill declared today at the trial of Joseph J. Ettor, strike leader, and Arthur Giovanniti, strike agitator, that the bullet that killed Annie Lo Pezzi was fired by an Italian strike leader.

AIMED AT POLICEMAN AND SHOT WOMAN

The name of the man was not mentioned. Mr. Atwill said that the leader aimed at Policeman Oscar Benoit and hit the woman. Ettor and Giovannitti are on trial for complicity in the murder.

The District Attorney charged that Ettor and Giovannitti incited the riots that caused the murder by their inflammatory speeches.

The first witness was William D. Haywood, the Socialist strike leader. He flatly declined to answer any questions. He refused on the ground that his answers might incriminate or degrade him.

The courtroom was jammed with witnesses. Many girls who work in the mills were present. In and about the courthouse was a large guard of militia. Ettor was cool and smiling. Giovannitti was pale and had trouble in raising a smile.

Brought From Jail Handcuffed.

The two men, who had been brought from jail at 7:40, handcuffed, were kept in an ante-room until 9:45, when they were brought into court. By that time William D. Haywood and William E. Trautmann, two of the strike leaders, were in court. Haywood walked across the court room with his hat on.

"Take your hat off," ordered a court officer.

Haywood obeyed. He had apparently forgotten it. Captain Proctor of the State police and several militia officers entered the court room.

When the trial opened, Lawyer John P. S. Mahoney of counsel for Ettor demanded a bill of particulars in the case. District Attorney Attwill, who represented the Commonwealth, declared that such a bill was not needed. He made a statement of the case in lieu of a bill of particulars.

After telling about the passage of the fifty-fourhour law and the beginning of the strike—he said one-third of the operatives went out—District Attorney Attwill continued:

"The Commonwealth will be able to show that the principles of the Industrial Workers of the World are not the ordinary principles of trade unionism.

"The objects of this organization are not the betterment of the wages of its members. Their principle is social revolution and the destruction of the wage system of the country. They also advocate force."

Ettor Attacked.

"Joseph Ettor, the defendant at the bar and one of the organizers of the I. W. W., came to Lawrence January 14 to take charge of the strike which had started on the Saturday before. He assumed the direction and the control as well as the methods of the strikers.

"On the Monday following January 15 mobs collected on the streets in Lawrence armed with clubs and dangerous weapons. The members of this mob made an assault upon the peaceful citizens and on the mills in Lawrence, and the disturbance was of such a character that the police were unable to cope with it and the militia was called in.

"Between January 15 and 29 Joseph J. Ettor on many occasions made inflammatory statements to the strikers and Giovannitti assisted him and also made inflamatory speeches of a like character.

"On January 28, Joseph Ettor, in a statement to the strikers said that something was going to happen in forty-eight hours and that the city of Lawrence would not be happy over it.

Describes the Riots.

"On January 29, between 5 and 6 o'clock in the morning, the strikers, armed with clubs and firearms, rioted on the street, delayed cars and broke the windows of the cars and delayed the peaceful employes at the mills.

"The demonstration lasted several hours, and in this mob of rioters Ettor and Giovaniti advised the strikers to go home and sleep in the daytime and break the heads of the workers at night, saying that in a day or two they would be able to count the broken heads. They advised them to become wild animals that prowl around in the night.

"On the evening of the same day between 5 and 6 o'clock a crowd of strikers, armed with clubs and firearms, assembled at the corner of Union and Garden streets. They assaulted people and two policemen who were attempting to prevent an assault in the performance of their duties. They threatened to kill Oscar Benoit, a police officer, and thereupon stabbed Oscar Benoit, and an Italian leader shot at Benoit, the bullet striking Anna Lo Pizzi, causing her death.

"The Commonwealth's contention is that the violence of January 15 and 29 resulted from advice and counsel of the two defendants at the bar, both defendants well knowing when they gave this counsel that many of their followers would be armed and that death and injury would result in consequence thereof."

The witnesses for the government were then asked to stand and be sworn. There were forty-three in all who raised their right hands and took the oath.

Haywood on the Stand.

It was 10:05 o'clock when Haywood was called to the stand by District Attorney Atwell. Haywood looked a bit pale. In reply to a question from the District Attorney, the witness said his full name was William D. Haywood.

Q—Where do you live, Mr. Haywood?

A—I live in Denver, Col.

Q—Do you know an organization known as the I. W. W.?

Before the witness had a chance to answer, Attorney J. T. S. Mahoney, of counsel for Ettor, the defendant, made objection to the question, saying: "The I. W. W. is not here on trial. I can't see why that question should be asked."

District Attorney Attwill—"The state of the defendants' minds and what they represent must be evidence of their intent in the statements they made. I wish to introduce it for the purpose of throwing light on statements made and what was meant by these statements."

Judge Mahoney—"This is merely a preliminary question and other questions later in the case will determine as to whether or not it is competent."

District Attorney Attwill—I will now ask you the question, Mr. Haywood, as to whether you know of an organization known as the I. W. W.?

Trautmann Called.

William E. Trautmann, former assistant secretary and organizer of the I. W. W., followed Haywood on the stand. Trautmann stated that he would like to reserve the same rights as Haywood in testifying, as he was associated with the defendants and did not wish to implicate them by his answer or to answer in any way that might tend to incriminate himself.

EXTRAORDINARY METHODS TO SECURE SAFETY IN ETTOR TRIAL

TWO PRISONERS ARE HANDCUFFED WHEN TAKEN FROM JAIL TO COURTHOUSE.

Q.—Does such an organization as the I. W. W. exist? Trautmann hesitated. At will then repeated his question.

Q.—I simply ask you, Mr. Trautmann, whether there is such an organization, to your knowledge. A.—Yes, of course there is.

Q.—Are you an officer in that organization?

Attorney Mahoney objected. The question was allowed.

A.—I have been an organizer and assistant secretary, serving as such until February 1 last.

A.—Do you know Vincent St. John? A.—I do.

Q.—Are you familiar with his handwriting? A.—I am.

Q.—Did you ever see his signature? A.—Yes, I have.

Q.—Is this letter from Vincent St. John? A.—I can't say. I wouldn't swear to it.

Q.—Is this Mr. St. John's signature? A.—I would not swear to it.

Q.—What is your opinion?

Tilt Over Signature.

Attorney Mahoney objected to the question on the ground that the witness was not a hand-writing expert. Judge Mahoney from the bench said he did not consider a request for an opinion involved expert judgment and therefore he overruled the question.

Q.—Is this Mr. St. John's signature? A.—I wouldn't swear to it.

Q.—I don't ask you to. I merely want your opinion. A.—Well, I should say that it would.

Q.—Are you familiar with the letterheads of the I. W. W.? A.—Yes.

Q.—Is this a letterhead (showing a sheet of letter-paper)?

"This is nothing more than an attempt on the part of the government," interrupted Attorney Mahoney, "to offer the letter by means of the identification of the letterhead forms."

Judge Mahoney—There is nothing in this inquiry up to this time that connects the defendants with the letter any more than any other person in the courtroom.

District Attorney Atwill—We wish to show that as assistant secretary and organizer the witness has become familiar with the letterheads and with Vincent St. John's handwriting and signature. When a witness is obviously hostile, as this one is, the government has the right to certain latitudes to test his credibility without inciting to counsel for the other side his reason for so doing, and be entitled to cross-examine to a certain extent.

Attorney Lynch, counsel for Giovannitti—I don't see what this letter affects in any way the defendants.

Judge Mahoney then excluded the question.

Q.—Did anyone have authority to use the signature of Vincent St. John? A.—I didn't know anything about that.

Q.—While you were assistant secretary and organizer of the I. W. W., Vincent St. John was assistant secretary and organizer? A.—Yes.

Q.—And you received communications from him in your official capacity? A.—Very few.

Q.—How long did you serve as organizer and assistant secretary? A.—Six years.

Q.—How long did Vincent St. John serve as treasurer? A.—Two years.

Q.—Who is assistant secretary and organizer now? A.—James Thompson of Spokane.

Here Attorney Mahoney, counsel for Ettor, complained that the government was going too far afield in its inquiry. He thought that counsel for the prosecution should drop the matter with the reply about the signatures.

District Attorney Atwill said that he had the right to cross-examine in order to refute the assertions of the witness if he proved hostile or unfriendly.

"This witness," said Judge Mahoney, "professes his loyalty to unionism, but he did not wish to implicate the defendants or incriminate himself. He is therefore hostile and counsel has a right to a wide latitude.

"It is palpable," said the District Attorney, "that Trautmann is not here entirely in the interest of the State."

Trautmann declined to answer questions touching of his associations with the defendant and others and was excused.

Angelo Rocco Testifies.

Angelo Rocco, a strike leader who is twenty-seven years old, but a member of the junior class in the high school, and who was arrested at the station house when he tried to see Ettor the day after the latter's arrest, said that he met Ettor first on the street in Lawrence last May. He had been living in Lawrence for three and a half years.

Q.—Where else did you meet Ettor? A.—At City Hall, on the evening of the same day.

Q.—Did Ettor organize the local branch of the Industrial Workers of the World? A.—No.

Q.—Did you organize it? A.—No.

Q.—Did you join it? A.—It was here before he came.

Q.—How long before you met Mr. Ettor? A.—Two months.

Q.—Did he attend the meeting? A.—No, sir.

Q.—Did he ever attend meetings of the local branch of the I. W. W.? A.—I don't understand.

Q.—When you don't understand English and you are a member of the junior class of the high school? How long have you been a member of that class? A.—Three years.

Q.—Can't you understand me, then? A.—I understand you, but not the question.

Ettor Spoke at City Hall.

Q.—Did Mr. Ettor ever speak at the meetings? Yes, he spoke at the City Hall meeting called by the Lawrence textile interests.

Q.—Did you hold an office in the local branch? A.—Yes, financial secretary.

Q.—And you had charge of the receipts and collection of funds? A.—Not collector.

Q.—You were just caring for them? A.—Yes.

Q.—Did you ever meet or have any communication with Vincent St. John? A.—No, sir.

Q.—Did you, as financial secretary of the local branch, ever send funds to Chicago? A.—I don't know.

Q.—Is that the best answer you can give? A.—Yes.

Q.—Who organized the local branch? Attorney Mahoney objected and the question was withdrawn.

Q.—Who were the first persons you ever met in connection with the I. W. W. work here? A.—Some French-Canadians.

Q.—Where? A.—Mason street.

Q.—No. 92? A.—Yes.

Q.—And you receive mail there? A.—I receive no mail.

Q.—Did you not understand that Joseph Ettor was an executive officer of the I. W. W.? The question was excluded.

Q.—Have you ever heard Mr. Ettor speak? A.—Yes.

Q.—How you heard him address meetings of the strikers? A.—Yes.

No Letters from Ettor.

Q.—Did you ever receive any communications from him? A.—No, sir.

Q.—Did Ettor ever say he was in any way connected with the I. W. W.? A.—I heard so.

Q.—What did you hear? A.—That he was a member.

Q.—Did you ever hear that he was an officer? A.—No.

Q.—Did you know that he was a member of the executive board of the I. W. W.? A.—No.

Q.—What did you think he came here for—with no interest in the people?

Q.—Did you ask him what he came here for? A.—Yes.

Q.—What did he tell you? A.—He said he came to support the people and to try to keep them cool and to keep them away from the mills and to stop trouble and riots.

Q.—Didn't you know that he was one of the leading officers of the organization? A.—No.

Q.—Hadn't you heard it while acting in your capacity as financial secretary? A.—No.

Q.—Did you ever send for Mr. Ettor to come up to Lawrence? A.—No, sir.

Came to Prevent Riots.

Q.—And he told you that he came to keep the people cool and to prevent riots? A.—Yes.

Q.—When did you first see him? A.—After the riots of Friday, the twelfth. It was on Saturday, the thirteenth. He said he came from New York.

Q.—Don't you think it was strange for a private in the ranks to come to do that work.

Question objected to and excluded.

Q.—Since he has been here what has you acted under his directions? A.—No.

Q.—Have you been in any address the strikers.

Attorney Mahoney objected to the question and it was excluded.

Q.—Did you address the strikers, telling them what policy they should adopt? A.—No, sir.

Q.—Did you hear Ettor or Giovannitti address them? A.—Yes, on the—

Q.—Did you hear anybody else? A.—No, sir.

Under cross-examination by Attorney Mahoney, Rocco said that Ettor always counselled peace and order and that he asked the strikers to abstain from inflicting any harm or violence on any person.

Captain Perry on Stand.

The next witness called was Captain Percy L. Burrell of Brockton, a member of the staff of Colonel Sweetser. He testified that on two different occasions he delivered to Ettor communications from Colonel Sweetser with reference to mass meetings and parading through the streets. Under cross-examination Captain Burrell admitted that he always found Ettor peaceful and quiet. He was followed on the stand by Captain John J. Sullivan of the Lawrence police department. Captain Sullivan was the first witness to testify of rioting.

Under examination by District Attorney Atwill, he testified as follows:

Q.—On January 29 did your attention called to trouble on the streets of Lawrence? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—What time was it? A.—4:20 a. m.

Q.—How did you see the trouble gathering of people? A.—I was on Common street. I watched them there.

Q.—Did you know J. J. Ettor? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—How long? A.—Since the strike began. I first saw him on Essex street, and he was walking on the street.

Q.—Did you see him on any other occasion? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—What was he doing? A.—He was leading a procession.

Q.—How many were there in that procession? A.—About forty or fifty. One of them was carrying an American flag. They were going East.

Q.—When did you next see him? A.—I saw him half an hour afterward on his return. There were several hundred behind him then. They passed down Common street going West.

Q.—Did you see him again? A.—Yes, I saw him again on Essex street.

Noisy Demonstration.

Q.—That was the last you saw of him? A.—Yes, sir. There were large crowds on the sidewalk. There was a noisy demonstration.

Q.—On that morning did you see a disturbance on the street cars? A.—Yes.

This question was objected to by Attorney Mahoney on the ground that no foundation had been laid for this line of testimony. There followed quite a long discussion between Attorney Mahoney and District Attorney Atwill and Judge Mahoney. The question was finally admitted. The witness answered yes.

Q.—Did you see Ettor after the demonstration on the street car? A.—Yes, about 6:45.

Q.—Where was he going? A.—He was going West.

Q.—Was he heading the crowd? A.—Yes.

Q.—Were any of the members of the crowd doing anything? A.—They were all shrieking. All that I could distinguish was that they were saying, "Come on, come on."

Q.—Did you see anybody have anything in their hands? A.—Yes. I say one man with a club.

Q.—Tell what you saw at that demonstration? A.—I saw men throw ice through the street car windows. There were two cars. They also threw ice at me.

Q.—How many people were there in the crowd? A.—I should say there were one thousand.

Q.—Did you see Ettor again that morning after you met him walking down Essex street? A.—No, sir. I never saw him until he was brought to the station house under arrest.

Rocco Called Again.

Angelo Rocco was recalled to the stand. He said he had never known Giovannitti till he had been introduced to the editor by a friend on the streets of Lawrence. He said he could not recall the date of the introduction.

Rocco said he had seen Giovanitti at strike headquarters "a few times" every two or three days.

Q.—Were you out on the street the morning the street cars were attacked and the windows broken? A.—I was not on the street. I was out. (Laughter.)

Q.—Where were you that morning, January 29? A.—In my bed.

Q.—Did you attend the meeting of the strike committee at headquarters on January 28? A.—There was no meeting then.

Q.—Have you paid any benefits to strikers. A.—No, I have not personally paid out any benefits.

Q.—What was the first action taken in connection with this strike A.—There was no meeting January 11.

Q.—When did Ettor arrive? A.—On January 13.

Q.—He remained at your house that night? A.—Yes.

Q.—Did you expect him? A.—Yes, we had talked about his coming here.

Q.—Who wrote him? A.—A committee sent him a telegram.

Q.—Do you know Gilbert Smith? A.—Yes.

Q.—Is he an officer in the organization? A.—Yes, he used to be secretary.

Q.—Did Smith send that telegram? A.—The committee sent it.

Q.—What committee was it? A.—The committee of the local branch.

Q.—You saw Ettor in Lawrence last May, didn't you? A.—Yes.

Q.—And he slept in your house a week, didn't he? A.—Yes.

Q.—And didn't he come to organize the local branch last May? A.—No. That was organized five years ago.

Q.—What was he doing in Lawrence? A.—He came on invitation of the Textile Alliance.

Q.—Isn't the I. W. W. interested in that? A.—Yes.

Q.—Did Ettor ever tell you he was an officer of the I. W. W.? A.—No.

Rocco was then excused. The next witness called was Fanes E. Donoghue, a Boston AMERICAN reporter.

Taken From Jail at Daybreak.

Ettor and Giovannitti were taken from Lawrence Jail at daybreak to the station house, the early hour being selected to avoid any demonstration which might be shaping. Strong police and military guard was detailed to keep a crowd from collecting about the building in which the station house and District Court are located.

Dawn was just breaking when the covered police van, with two patrolmen sitting inside, was driven raridly to the Hampshire street entrance to the jail. The only people out were those hurrying to work. At sight of the police van some lingered to get a glimpse of the two prisoners.

A detail of four soldiers came down the street at a smart pace. They were sent by Colonel Sweetser to guard the transfer of Ettor and Giovannitti from the jail to the van.

The two strike leaders came out of the jail handcuffed together. They were escorted rapidly down the steps and into the van, whose barred door was closed and locked behind them, with the prisoners and two patrolmen inside. The men was driven quickly toward the station, with the little militia detail returning to the Armory.

When the van was backed up to the door of the station house, corner of Common and Lawrence streets, at 7:15, the same expedition was used in transferring the prisoners to cells. Their handcuffs were removed, and they were locked in adjoining cells to await the call to the bearing in the courtroom upstairs.

It was at the station house that the police and militia precautions were most in evidence.

Orders had been given that no crowd be allowed, witnessed, reporters, police and militia. This was carried out to the letter.

WOMAN TO SPEAK FOR RELIEF OF THE MILL STRIKERS

Mrs. Florence Kelley, pictured above, is general secretary of the National Consumers' League. She will speak at a meeting of the Twentieth Century Club next Tuesday.

HAYWOOD REFUSES TO ANSWER QUESTIONS AND IS ON STAND ONLY FIVE MINUTES.

Faneuil Hall to the interest of the Lawrence textile strikers. The meeting will be under the auspices of the branches of the Labor League of Boston, to raise funds for the strike.

The Consumers' League of Massachusetts is also doing active work in the strike in compiling relief to the strikers. Next Tuesday afternoon at the Twentieth Century Club at No. 3 Joy street, after the reading of the usual reports and the election of officers, there will be addresses by Mrs. Florence Kelley, general secretary of the National Consumers' League, and Mrs. Glendower Evans of the Minimum Wage Commission.

The Consumers' League has sent the following communication to Governor Foss:

"Dear Sir—Starting in all thought-fulness and distress that all thoughtful people feel regarding the present social and industrial conditions in Lawrence, we, the members of the Executive Committee of the Consumers' League of Massachusetts, respectfully urge your excellency to recommend the immediate appointment of a responsible commission to study the situation.

Per MARY C. WIGGIN, Secretary.

BOSTON BAKERS TO FURNISH BREAD TO TEXTILE STRIKERS

The Boston Master Bakers' Association has completed arrangements for delivering to the textile strikers in Lawrence thousands of loaves of bread. A committee from here made the arrangements.

The committee, which consisted of Robert Rausch, president of the association, and F. H. Harzbecker, of Jamaica Plain, returned here after investigating the conditions since Tuesday, and in their report said that the things brought to their attention were beyond description.

"CLUB WOMAN THE HAPPY ONE"

By ELIZABETH ELLICTT.

"The club woman is the happy woman. "Instead of sitting at home mooning over imagined wrongs, she forgets herself and her troubles in her effort to do something for some one else. Therefore, instead of the nagging, fretful wife we have the happy, broad minded, contented wife," said Mrs. Henry Coolidge Mulligan, president of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs at the conclusion of what she termed "the glorious" meeting of the federation at the Park Street Church.

"Club women are, as a rule, the leisure class of women and it is they who can find the time to reach through the various channels and do the greatest amount of good where most sadly needed.

Aims of Various Clubs.

"There are so many different kinds of clubs that all are bound to come together for good to all. The charity club does its work, the mothers' club does its work—and so on down through the list they are all reaching out through different channels and effecting good in innumerable ways. The ideal of the clubwoman should be the uplifting of humanity and that's what she's striving to do.

"Woman's work is not necessarily confined to the home, but when the demands of home have in any way been lessened and she has the time to spare, instead of fluttering it away as is the case with so many women, she lends all her energies to the betterment of the country and the race.

"I don't believe that the wife and mother should stay at home as the old time wife and mother did. She should get out and glimpse the glories of the outer world, broaden her horizon and thus become a better wife and mother and a more interesting companion.

Tends to Better Humanity.

"All club work tends "to the betterment of humanity. The intelligent getting together of women of brains means that better conditions are bound to be the result. Intelligent thinking, working and planning are bound to make their impression."

Mrs. Mulligan had presided at the afternoon session and had responded to the address of welcome given by Mrs. George F. F. Roberts, president of the Woman's Club of Park Street Church.

The church was crowded and any number of women were standing in the aisle and in the rear of the edifice. To carry out Mrs. Mulligan's argument, let it be said that at the meeting a resolve was made to appoint a commission of three to study the question of support of widows with dependent minor children, and as to the advisability of providing for State contributions to such support, so that minor children may be kept at home.

The resolve was endorsed by the federation. The meeting was an all-day one, the morning session opening with an address of welcome by Mrs. F. F. Roberts, and Mrs. Mulligan presided.

Mrs. Nellie K. Rich, chairman of the legislative department, presented the report of that department on legislative measures and the federal children's bureau bill, now before Congress, was endorsed.

A uniform child-labor law, providing for a forty-eight-hour week for boys and girls under certain age, instead of fifty-four, as at present; five grades in school instead of three; prohibition of working of children at certain machines, and a requirement for licensing newsboys.

The proposed law was unanimously endorsed—as there are a few things which go to prove the good that these clubs are accomplishing.

A bill to extend civil service rules to county employes was also endorsed, as was also a bill giving the State power to tax wild and forest land to conserve the forest resources of the State.

The Ellis milk bill, for a central authority to insure pure milk and dairy products, created some little discussion, but was finally endorsed.

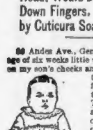
BABY'S FACE A SIGHT WITH ECZEMA

Scab Half Inch Thick Covered Top of Head, Would Dig Until Blood Ran Down Fingers. Completely Cured by Cuticura Soap and Ointment.



"On Andoe Ave., Geneva, N. Y. — "At the age of six weeks little water blisters appeared on my son's cheeks and kept spreading until they covered his entire face and ears, also on the top of his head. There was a scab half an inch thick that covered the whole top of his head and if you pressed on it the pus would come out all around. When the scabs came off the hair came with them.

"We had to keep his hands pinned to his sides all the time and then he would get at his face sometimes in spite of everything, and dig it until the blood would run down his fingers. His face was a sight with the terrible eczema. No one ever looked worse than he did, I cannot describe it. He was getting worse all the time. I got some Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment and used them. In two weeks there was a great change. By the time he was nine months old he was completely cured through the use of Cuticura Soap and Ointment." (Signed) Mrs. J. C. Scott, June 9, 1911.

If you wish a skin clear of pimples, blackheads and other annoying eruptions, hands soft and white, hair live and glossy, and scalp free from dandruff and itching, begin to-day the regular use of Cuticura Soap for the toilet, bath and shampoo, assisted by an occasional light application of Cuticura Ointment. No other method is so agreeable, so economical, and so often effective. Cuticura Soap (25c.) and Cuticura Ointment (50c.) are sold everywhere. Sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. book on the skin and hair. Address, "Cuticura," Dept. T, Boston. Tender-faced men should shave with Cuticura Soap Shaving Stick.

CLAIMS BRIDE WHO SAVED LIFE

Announcement of the wedding of Roland C. Nickerson, son of Mrs. Roland C. Nickerson of No. 56 Fenway, and Miss Henrietta Jordon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Jordon of No. 2440 Park avenue, Minneapolis, which took place at the home of the bride's parents, recalled to the minds of their Boston friends to-day Miss Jordon's heroic devotion to her fiance when the latter was stricken ill last December.

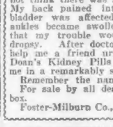
The young Boston millionaire was seized with an attack of appendicitis while on board a train en route to visit Miss Jordon at Minneapolis. He was taken from the train at Chicago and rushed to a private hospital. An operation was performed and Miss Jordon was notified her fiance's life was in grave danger. She hurried to his bedside and nursed him back to health and strength.

The wedding is the culmination of a pretty romance which began in Rome a year and a half ago, when both young persons were touring abroad. There were but few attendants and only a few relatives and intimate acquaintances of the bride and groom were present at the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. William P. Remington, pastor of St. Paul's Church. After an extended honeymoon trip abroad Mr. and Mrs. Nickerson will make their home in Boston.

Nickerson is twenty-two years old and the owner of estates in Massachusetts and New York which are valued at several millions of dollars.

Cheerful Words for Suffering Women

No woman can be healthy with sick kidneys. They are often the true cause of bearing-down pains, headaches, dizziness, nervousness, etc. Keep the kidneys well and health is easily maintained. There is no kidney remedy recommended like Doan's Kidney Pills.



"Had so tired and ache all over"

Mrs. J. A. Weldon, 58 High St., Woburn, Mass., says: "My health was all run down and I did not think there was any cure for me. My back pained intensely and my bladder was affected. My feet and ankles became swollen and I feared that my trouble would develop into dropsy. After doctors had failed to help me a friend urged me to try Doan's Kidney Pills and they cured me in a remarkably short time."

Remember the name—Doan's.

GUGGENHEIM'S DIVORCE FRAUD

CHICAGO, Feb. 9.—Judge Windes, in the Circuit Court here, has handed down a ruling in the Guggenheim divorce litigation, and both sides claim a victory. The court declared that the divorce was obtained by collusion and fraud.

"E. F. Dunne, former Mayor, granted the decree when judge, and he was duped by both William Guggenheim and this woman," said Judge Windes.

The divorce was obtained by Mrs. Guggenheim in 1901. Subsequently she was married to Jules Roger Wahl. From him she separated in 1910. Now she seeks to have the court set aside the Guggenheim divorce on the ground that it was obtained by fraud.

HOW THE JAPANESE ALWAYS REMAIN SLENDER

PROMINENT SCIENTIST AND TRAVELER DISCOVERS LONG SOUGHT SECRET. REDUCED HIS OWN WEIGHT 100 POUNDS. NO ONE NEED REMAIN FAT NOW.

How to Reduce Fat One Pound a Day and Then Always Remain Slim. No Drugs, Medicines, Starvation Diet, Exercising, or Apparatus Used. Finds Simple Home Treatment Works Wonders.

Arrangements Now Made to Have All Stout Readers of This Paper Receive a Free Copy of Dr. Turner's Wonderful Book, "How I Reduced My Weight 100 Pounds."

On returning from a recent trip Dr. F. Turner, the physician, scientist and traveler, who has won fame and world-wide renown through his writings and scientific researches, accorded an interview to press representatives who were astounded by his loss of more than 100 pounds of excessive fat since they last saw him. They found it difficult, indeed, to recognize in the slender, muscular and perfectly proportioned form of Dr. Turner today the same man whom only a few months ago they knew as a semi-invalid, an enormously fat man he could hardly walk.

When questioned concerning his health and the remarkable change in his appearance, Dr. Turner said: "My discovery came about during my trip, and in this way: When seeking data for some literary work I found a reference to the manner in which the Japanese were said to easily overcome any tendency to take on superfluous flesh. It was easily apparent from observation that the race are comparatively heavy eaters and that their diet consists largely of rice, the most starchy and therefore the most fat forming of all grains. I had often wondered why, in spite of these facts, the natives of Japan, both men and women, always present such a slender, trim, neat appearance, for though corsets are rare in that country the women there have beautiful figures that any American woman might well envy, and the Japanese also have strength and powers of endurance that are proverbial. Being diligent inquirer about the cause of this, I devoted more than ever convinced that they were unconsciously following a system of fat reduction and fat prevention far in advance of anything known to medical science in this country. As the finding of such a method was a matter of life or death to me at this time, I consulted numerous authorities and set about asking questions of those who would be likely to know anything about it, and as a result of my untiring efforts were finally rewarded by the discovery of a system of fat reduction that I found to be all I had dreamed of and unsuspected. I was fairly startled to behold the wonderful changes it made in my appearance, and the improvement in my health that was noticeable from the very first. My fat began to disappear at the rate of one pound a day, sometimes more. I knew I had at last discovered the secret that had been vainly sought for years, and I continued the treatment until I had reduced more than 100 pounds in weight. I became enthused with every pound I lost, and soon regained my former normal weight, which I have since been able to maintain for twenty years passed. So well did this fat that had formed inside and outside of my body, after discontinuing the treatment and keeping a careful record of my weight for more than two months, that I decided to find that such reduction was permanent, nor has my fat shown the slightest tendency to return since then. I have now been gladly accepted by the same large circle of friends that previously pointed me out as the fat Dr. Turner, but now go to explain the treatment he discovered, and they are simply astounded that it is a highly logical method and undoubtedly effective to a wonderful degree, yet it is so simple that even a child can understand it and obtain most satisfactory results. Surely no stout person need any longer feel ashamed to be the most prominent fat now. Lack of space prevents a full description of the system here, but Dr. Turner has described it in a handsomely bound and modestly priced book, which he will send free to any reader who writes for it. 100 pounds and over special arrangement with the Doctor we are able to announce that we have valuable booklets on hand they last, are to be distributed absolutely free to those of our stout readers who will write us requesting to send a two-cent stamp for postage. The books are sent in plain wrapper, and we are told that there are about 1,000 left. When these are gone no more will be had, and we have no means of telling how long this will remain another free copy, and he will probably place a limit on the number of books he will give away. The Doctor's address is F. Turner, M. D., Suite 744 G. Clark Building, Syracuse, N. Y., and any requests sent there during the next few days will be given prompt attention. We strongly advise all of our stout readers to obtain this wonderful book, and begin reducing immediately, as such an opportunity as this may never present itself again.

IVES DEMANDS A FREE CANAL

Vigorous advocacy of the policy of granting to American coastwise shipping free passage through the Panama Canal is taking shape all along the Atlantic, Pacific and Gulf coasts. At a hearing held at Washington before the House committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, D. O. Ives, transportation manager for the Boston Chamber of Commerce, made a strong argument for free, or at least preferential tolls.

Mr. Ives said:

"New England business men believe the government, having spent between $300,000,000 and $400,000,000 on this canal, would be justified in adopting a policy that would stimulate our own internal commerce and make possible the free exchange of commodities between the Atlantic slope and the Mississippi Valley on the one hand and the Pacific slope on the other, at the lowest possible cost.

"In other words, we think it essential to maintain this right to make preferential rates, so that if it is decided to charge on foreign commerce any such rates as is now charged through the Suez Canal, we may have the right to make lower or free rates on our coastwise traffic, if necessary for the best interests of our people.

"The canal will extend its influence far into the interior. There will be built a small portion of the people whose transportation cost would not be favorably affected. The present water competition, intense and well-controlled as it is, has had the effect of reducing transportation charges, not only from New York and Boston, Savannah and New Orleans, but from every point in the United States as far west as the Missouri river, so that the question of preferential tolls is by no means a sectional one, but lower tolls will benefit nearly all the people of the United States."

A member of the committee asked Mr. Ives if the people of New England would favor having the representatives of the United States adopt sharp practice in their dealings with foreign nations?

Mr. Ives replied:

"That depends on what you mean by 'sharp practice.' I believe that the representatives of the United States should be the cleverest, the most astute and persistent men whom we can find."

GOING UP--H.C.L. MACKEREL SIGN

Now Mr. Mackerel qualifies for the fifth H. C. L.

Those letters stand for "High Cost of Living," and the mackerel is to join the throng of foodstuffs which have taken the upward degree.

Mackerel is to be sold by the pound hereafter, instead of by the mackerel. The change means that the fish will cost more to the consumer. That is what any change in the way of selling food generally means.

The Master Mariners' Association of Gloucester is responsible. It has voted that the old custom of selling mackerel by the fish is to be changed to selling by the pound. This order will affect at first the fish buyers and wholesalers.

But it is expected that the retail dealers will follow suit. They usually thought they will buy by the pound and sell by the fish, especially when the fish is scarce, for selling the other way

Up to the present the way to buy mackerel is to look over the lot carefully, pick out the biggest one for the price you intend to pay, and say: "That's a good-looking one; I'll take that."

The more you select the more respect the dealer has for you.

A SHARP WARNING

Nervous Exhaustion Is Notice to Relieve the Strain and Build Up the Starved Nerves.

Nervous exhaustion, or breakdown of the nerves, is more often a blessing than anything else. The nerves have rebelled and you should be thankful it is no worse than it is. Let it serve as a sharp warning to relieve the strain and to take a treatment that will build up your nerves.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are a real nerve tonic. They supply plenty of nourishing red blood to the exhausted nerves and do not excite and urge them on to do work which they have already shown they cannot do. Medicines which whip on the tired nerves do more harm than no medicine at all. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People not only start in immediately to give relief but continue to strengthen the nerves until they are able to do their work once more.

Mrs. H. G. Williams, of No. 112 North Franklin street, Saginaw, Mich., says: "Nervousness in my case was doubtless due to worry and overwork. I merely felt tired out, weak, restless and nervous. Nervous spells came on me whenever I had any extra strain. There were no additional symptoms to my case but as I was conducting my store all alone and there was considerable detail connected with it, it is not to be wondered at that I was nervous. An old lady friend, who had used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People with good results in her family, told me to try them for nervousness. I did so. My nerves became steadier and I was cured. I can recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People as a splendid nerve tonic. I have used them for years whenever run down and found they gave me immediate relief."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are guaranteed to be free from any harmful or habit-forming drugs. They have given the most gratifying results in nervous headaches, neuralgia, nervous dyspepsia, St. Vitus' dance, and even in partial paralysis and locomotor ataxia. For a full statement of this treatment write for the free booklet, "Diseases of the Nervous System."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

Peculiar After Effects of Grip This Year

Leaves Kidneys in Weakened Condition.

Doctors in all parts of the country have been kept busy with the epidemic of grip which has visited so many homes. The symptoms of grip this year are very distressing and leave the system in a run-down condition, particularly the kidneys which seem to suffer most, as every victim complains of lame back and urinary troubles which should not be neglected, as these danger signals often lead to more serious sickness, such as dreaded Bright's Disease. Local druggists report a large sale on Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root which so many people say soon heals and strengthens the kidneys after an attack of grip. Swamp-Root is a great kidney, liver and bladder remedy and, being an herbal compound, has a gentle healing effect on the kidneys, which is almost immediately noticed by those who try it. Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., offer to send a sample bottle of Swamp-Root, free by mail, to every sufferer who requests it. A trial will convince any one who may be in need of it. Regular one bottle 50 cts. and $1.00. For sale at all druggists. Be sure to mention this paper.

WALKER FIGHTS DIVORCE DECREE

NEWPORT, R. I., Feb. 9.—Claiming that he has new evidence to present, Civil Engineer James W. Grimes Walker has asked the Rhode Island Supreme Court for a rehearing of the case in which, after much sensational testimony, he was divorced by Nina Chinn Walker. Walker was formerly stationed at the Charlestown Navy Yard, and the Walkers for a time lived in Brookline, Mass.

Walker, who is a member of an old Salem family, denied particularly, while testifying at the first hearing, the charges made by Mrs. Walker in reference to a Miss Mabel Corcoran of Boston, who was co-respondent for their children.

The divorce decision was followed by a long controversy on the matter of alimony and altogether the case was one of the most bitterly contested of the kind that has been in the Rhode Island courts in years.

Mrs. Walker, whose home recently has been in Washington, is now living in Newport with her children.

Mrs. Walker secured an absolute divorce, $200 a month alimony and the custody of the children. According to law Walker had the right of appeal direct to the trial justice within seven days of the announcing of the decision, and failing to do this he has the right to petition the Supreme Court within a year for permission to apply to the trial justice for another hearing.

THREE BREAKS AT WEYMOUTH

Three stores were entered by thieves early today at Weymouth Landing, a part of the town of Weymouth. Two of the stores were entered through broken window panes, and in the third the door was smashed. So far as the Weymouth police could learn, the robbers secured less than $3, which was stolen from a cash register in the drug store of C. D. Harlow, at Washington and Front streets, in Weymouth Landing.

Entrance into the drug store was effected through a hole the thieves made in a plate glass window. With a marker pencil, the inside and combination lock of the iron safe in the store were broken, but the safe still refused to open. Diggers in an iron strongbox were searched and later scattered all over the floor.

At Lincoln square the thieves entered the tobacco store of Miss Olive Tralior and ransacked the place. At the tobacco store of John A. Bryar, nearby, the robbers forced a door.

The Weymouth police started a search for the men, but declared they had practically no clews on which to work.

SUFFRAGETTE SLAPS CHURCHILL IN FACE

LONDON, Feb. 9—Winston Churchill, first Lord of the Admiralty, is back in London after delivering his widely advertised speech on home rule at Belfast yesterday—a speech which was remarkable not so much for what was said, but for what was left unsaid. Surprisingly good order was maintained in the big tent at Celtic Park, where the Minister spoke, and outside the fierce Ulster spirit was missing—all because the rain came down in torrents during the entire day, and for the further reason that thousands of troops and police maintained close watch. The Admiralty Lord, however, was roughly jostled several times. His troubles began when he arrived and did not end until he got aboard his special train and was whisked away on the return trip.

Hisses were the worst that Churchill experienced in Belfast, when he left the soil of Ulster and landed in Scotland he received a blow from a suffragette, who struck him in the face with a green flag bearing the words, "No referendum for the suffragettes."

She exclaimed as she hit Mr. Churchill, "Take that, you cur!" She was then roughly hustled by the crowd, but Mr. Churchill said, "Don't hurt her," and the incident ended.

Phillip Gibbs, who saw the most violent attack on Mr. Churchill before the speaking, said today:

Tried to Tip Over Auto.

"Mr. Churchill was late in starting. It was 12:35 when, with Mrs. Churchill, he came down into the hall of Grand Central Hotel. A number of men began to gather around and the hooting in the vestibule of the hotel was a signal to the outside. It gave a roar and passed forward so that there was a dense mass around Churchill's car. A body of unmounted men of the Royal Irish Constabulary forced a pathway across the yard to the pavement so that Mr. and Mrs. Churchill were able to get into their car.

"At the sight of them a tempest of fury possessed the crowd. Men with fierce faces waved sticks and fists. A gang of roughs grasped the wheels of the motor car and tried to tip it over. They already had the wheels on one side off the ground when the city commissioner and a few police showed at their hands with sticks, so that they had to release their grasp. The other police were thrusting back the mob, but did not draw their clubs.

"The chauffeur had set his engine going and his car moved forward with a jerk, but had to stop at the end of a few yards, for there was a solid wall of human bodies barring the way. Again the police forced a passage and the car went forward another twenty paces.

"Churchill sat with a smile on his face, but his lips were hard set. The car and other cars following closely behind swung round into the Falls district and there ahead of it a good pace until in the Falls road they met another mob. There were thousands of people lined on either side of the road and shouts greeted the party.

Women Dance in Road.

"Churchill was in the heart of the Catholic and Nationalist quarter, and had overtaken the carriage in which Redmond and Mr. Devlin were driving. The people had recognized their friends and leaders and their enthusiasm was like a flame.

"Thousands of women and girls sang and flung their shawls from their heads and waved them, their cheers were shrill and loud, their eyes bright and they laughed in a kind of ecstacy.

"Scores of them danced in the roadway before the automobiles. They waved orange and green flags, the Nationalist colors for Ulster, and screamed 'Home Rule for the old country' and 'God bless Ireland.' Scores of the men were dancing also, and when the cars slowed down many of them clung to Mr. Redmond's carriage and Mr. Churchill's, mounting the footboard and hanging to the driver's seat.

Cheer Mrs. Churchill.

"Mrs. Churchill was waving her handkerchief. She laughed back at the men, who shouted, 'God bless you, my beauty,' and one woman 'Praise God for your bright eyes.'

"The main points in the speech were: Fair representation of both majority and minority in Irish Parliament.

"Crown to be in position to refuse assent to unjust laws and imperial parliament would be able to repeal such laws. Religious freedom will be secured.

"Privy Council can declare void any law which goes beyond the limits of the home rule bill.

"Military will remain under control of imperial government.

"Irish government will be given fair financial start, but system used must be consistent with that of the United Kingdom.

Imperial government will carry out land purchase and old-age pension schemes.

Irish representation at Westminster will be reduced.

One phase of Mr. Churchill's announcement of the government's policy that is attracting attention in London today is his reference to the effect which Irish contentment would have in cementing the friendship between England and the United States. The London Daily News says editorially:

"One great object of the British foreign policy should be to bring this country and the English-speaking republic across the Atlantic into the most intimate friendship. That can never be consummated so long as the Irish people labor under a sense of bitter grievance. They will stand in the future as they have stood in the past, a barrier to a complete and durable understanding between England and the United States."

MAYOR SCORES FINANCE BOARD

for itself. In view of the fact that last year the administration closed its year with a balance of $1,486,000, in this year with a balance of $1,060,000, the two largest balances in the history of the city, the record of the collectors' office is an extraordinary one.

"In the Finance Commission's statement an attempt is made to cast discredit upon Mr. Leahy, the cashier of the department. It is a fact that Mr. Leahy is my friend, and I am proud to say his been my friend for more than twenty-five years. We grew up as boy and man together, and I think it is the general opinion at City Hall that no more efficient public servant ever occupied a position in the service of the city.

Praise for Leahey.

"During my former administration he was at the head of the Sewer Department and at a meeting of the officials of the sewer service during my present term I was told that Mr. Leahy was the most incorruptible man that had ever occupied the position. Previous to his going into office the atmosphere was charged with Fenway graft, brought about principally in the effort to elect the present chairman of the Finance Commission, John A. Sullivan, to the United States Congress.

"It is to the credit of the Leahy administration of the sewer department, contractors were paid on a 15 per cent. basis, had been compelled to carry an army of 'students,' and this phase of municipal administration reached its height in the effort to make Mr. Sullivan a member of Congress. Every man in town who knows anything about the politics of the times knows this to be true. It was the rottenness of affairs in City Hall under these conditions that prompted me, against the protest of my own party leaders and the determined opposition of the Republicans, to force the organization of the first Finance Commission, and now the chairman of that body attempts to smirch those against whose record his own smells to Heaven.

Rewarded by Storrow.

"Mr. Storrow rewarded his campaign manager, Mr. Billings, by giving him a position at the head of a trust company, with a salary of $5,000 a year, and his assistant manager, Robert Bottomley, by putting him in charge of the Good Government Association at $3,600. Mr. Ernst, under the guise of the establishment of a Bureau of Municipal Research, got a job at $5,000 a year, while George S. Burgess of Lynn, because of his activity in Republican politics in Essex county, is transferred to the Boston School Department and given a salary of $3,750 a year.

"All these appointments are a violation of the very spirit in which the Finance Commission condemns the Mayor's office."

ONLY UNIONISTS FACING ARREST

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 9.—When arrests on the government indictments in the dynamite cases have been made, it will be found that only members of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, or men closely connected with the union, have been taken into custody.

Men connected with the union as attorneys have not been indicted. That was learned positively today. Further, it is reported from high authority, that no members of the American Federation of Labor have been indicted, except those connected with that organization through affiliation with the iron workers.

It is believed now that not more than twenty-five more names will be added to the list of persons indicted.

It is expected the arrests will be made simultaneously on Sunday.

KEPT ALIVE BY VACUUM PUMP

CHICAGO, Feb. 9.—Science has been given new thrills by the success of a new invention by a Chicago surgeon which for more than a day prolonged the life of Miss Florence Woodman.

After the young woman had been pronounced "incompletely dead," a vacuum cleaner with mechanical attachments was applied and for twenty-nine hours her heart was kept beating and an almost normal supply of blood pumped through her veins.

The machine is the invention of Dr. Harry A. Richter of Northwestern Medical College. Dr. Richter applied the invention to Miss Woodman and for the first time in medical history, an operation was successfully performed after the "death" of a patient.

The young woman was an orphan. She lived with the family of her uncle in Woodlawn avenue. A few weeks ago she was stricken with a malady resembling mastoiditis. The infection spread to the brain and Miss Woodman lapsed into unconsciousness. Before an operation could be performed she died—in the ordinary sense.

But "complete death" is a slow process, and it was decided to perform an operation with the invention of Dr. Richter.

Miss Woodman had ceased to breathe when the machine was applied. Immediately the heart began to beat regularly, normal respiration returned and the pulse was as strong as though the young woman was in perfect health. The blood returned to her lips and face.

As soon as the machine was stopped, however, the pallor of death returned, the heart ceased beating and respiration stopped.

In agony the girl's relatives watched at the bedside, watched the fight of science with the grim spirit of the dead girl from shadowland.

100,000 TROOPS FOR TEXAS SOON

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 9.—Plans for the accommodation of at least 100,000 troops at points in the State are being perfected in Texas.

No official order has been received, but preparations are practically complete.

President Madero's military forces are now taking the aggressive in Northern Mexico, and a column is moving south from Juarez.

CHANGING HER FACE

(From the Household Friend.)

Any woman not satisfied with her complexion can remove it and have a new one. The thin veil of stifling half-dead cuticle is an encumbrance and should be removed to give the fresh, vigorous young skin underneath a chance to show itself and to breathe.

There's a simple old-fashioned home remedy which will always do the work. Get an ounce of pure, unrefined wax from your druggist and apply it at night like cold cream, washing it off in the morning. The mercolide will gently absorb all the lifeless skin and leave a healthy and beautiful complexion, as fresh as a child's. Naturally it takes with it all such facial blemishes as freckles, tan, moth patches, sallowness, liver spots, pimples, etc. It is pleasant to use, effective and economical. The face so treated immediately looks years younger.

MUTT AND JEFF IN DANCE TOGA

"Bud" Fisher's proteges Mutt and Jeff will cut up their funny capers at Berkeley Hall tonight at the first grand ball of the Walnut Associates of the South End.

If their popular creator, who is performing at one of the local playhouses can spare the time he will strop in at the dance to chaperon his two side kicks and see that their playful ways don't get them into trouble.

"You watch me cop the squalus," said Mutt today. "You'll have to decorate the walls, you poor boob."

"Aw, for the love of Mike, be reasonable, Mutt," said little Jeff.

The two popular fun-makers of the AMERICAN will be impersonated by two members of the club. Hugh Fleming, with his six feet odd of height, will make an excellent Mutt, while Ralph Leonard will represent Jeff.

The Walnut Associates is one of the prominent clubs of the South End. About 600 members and their friends will be present at the dance. "Bud" Fisher and Max Henry Newman have been invited to be present.

The officers of the association are: H. Barker, president; L. Altchuler, vice-president; S. Greenfield, treasurer; J. S. Bell, secretary; L. Gold, sergeant-at-arms; M. J. Schafro, S. Greenfield, L. Altchuler, J. W. Akell and I. Sudman, directors.

ADVANCE GRAND TRUNK MEASURE

The resolution of the Massachusetts Real Estate Exchange in favor of the extension of the Grand Trunk Railroad, presented to the Senate and admitted without debate, comes up today in the House for concurrence. The resolution was as follows:

Whereas, It is the opinion of this body that great commercial benefits would result from the entrance of the Grand Trunk Railway into the city of Boston, and

Whereas, It is understood that a bill regarding this matter has been introduced for the consideration of your honorable body; therefore, be it

Resolved, That it is the desire and the request of the Legislative Committee of the Massachusetts Real Estate Exchange that your honorable body in order to expedite the consideration of the above-mentioned bill should, as far as is possible, consistent with the proper consideration of the entire matter, lay aside all unnecessary preliminary proceedings and enact such a statute as will enable the Grand Trunk Railway to obtain the desired entrance to the city of Boston with all proper terminal facilities.

(Signed) GEORGE F. WASHBURN, Chairman.
CHARLES E. LEWIS, Secretary.

The resolutions were referred to the Committee on Railroads without debate, and it is from that committee that they are reported in the House today.

TESTIMONY BARRED IN BATHTUB CASE

DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 9.—Judge Angell in the United States District Court ruled today that counsel for the Department of Justice against members of the so-called Bathtub Trust cannot introduce testimony regarding a meeting held in New York on March 28, 1910. The prosecution asserted that conference preceded one at Mr. Clement, when an agreement was reached to control prices. Arguments have been started on the demand of the defence that testimony regarding other meetings be excluded.

Mary Curle, for Love of Whom Mrs. Taylor Was Threatened

Mary Curle lived with Mrs. Taylor, who was killed in New York Saturday with a bomb, under the name of Olivette Leonard. An electrician who was infatuated with the girl is now being sought as the slayer.

THREAT IS REVEALED IN THE NEW YORK BOMB CASE.

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—"It will certainly go bad with any one who takes that girl away from me."

This threat was uttered to Mrs. Helen Taylor, who was killed last Saturday with a bomb, by an electrician who was infatuated with Mary Curle, the Baltimore girl who lived for a time in Mrs. Taylor's home under the name of Olivette Leonard until she was taken in charge by the authorities and placed in the Mary Magdalen home for wayward girls.

According to the police, the man who made the threat now assumes the aspect of being the most logical suspect in the murder mystery, and search is being made for him here and elsewhere.

Detectives from District Attorney Whitman's office are also looking for him.

Mrs. Taylor recently gave testimony which resulted in the girl being turned over to the authorities. The girl's sweetheart told the Taylor woman that "he would get even." For a time nothing was heard of him, and the fear which Mrs. Taylor felt of him, and which she often expressed to her friends, gradually died away.

Other persons who have visited the Taylor flat and who knew of the electrician's love for the Curle girl, have told the police that the man was an expert at his trade.

"HAPPY TWENTY" NEWSBOYS DANCE

So many persons attended the first ball of the "Happy Twenty," as the senior group of the Boston Newsboys' Club now designates itself, in Odd Fellows' Hall, that it was impossible to hold the grand march. Bessie McCoy, Bert Williams, "Bud" Fisher, and several other performers appeared. Mr. and Mrs. James J. Storrow were present. President Attridge of the City Council was another visitor, as was his predecessor in office, Councilman Collins. The proceeds of the dance will be devoted toward the establishment of a summer camp for the newsboys.

TROOPS WANTED FOR STRIKE IN GLASGOW

GLASGOW, Feb. 9.—A demand for troops was made today by Glasgow shippers following an outbreak of union dockmen today. The dock strike here has never been settled to the satisfaction of the union. Serious rioting broke out during the day when dockers, whom the companies refused to reinstate, attempted to storm the barricades around the wharves and capture the non-union workmen. They were finally overpowered by the police after a battle in which fifteen were hurt.

NEW ENTRIES IN BOY CONTEST

The prize winners for the third week of the AMERICAN'S Country Boy Contest will be announced in next Sunday's AMERICAN'S, February 11. They are the ones sending in the best answers in the past week to the following question:

"Which boy has the greater natural opportunity for success in life, the city boy or the country boy?"

The contest was suggested by Edgar Selwyn's comedy, "The Country Boy," now running at the Park Theatre.

Answers to the question should not run over 150 words. Write on one side of the paper, illustrate your answer with an actual example of some young man whose success in life has influenced your decision. Address letters to the Country Boy Editor, Boston AMERICAN, Boston.

There is a total of $75 in gold, as well as theatre tickets and theatre seats, offered by the AMERICAN as prizes in this contest.

There are four sets of weekly prizes, followed by the Grand Prize at the finish. The weekly prizes include: First, $10 in gold; second, one box (six seats) for "The Country Boy;" third, one pair of seats for "The Country Boy." The Grand Prizes are: First, $20 in gold; second, $10 in gold; third, $5 in gold; fourth, one box (six seats) for "The Country Boy."

Letters sent in this week include the following:

Have Equal Advantages.

Editor AMERICAN:

Who has the greater advantage in life, the country boy or the city boy? A question which puzzles many people. My answer is each one has just as much of a chance as the other. Many people think of a country boy as being a strong, husky fellow, poor but healthy, uneducated and hard to make understand. The city boy is generally recommended as a refined gentleman, carrying a cane, but sometimes they are exactly opposite. Think of a poor country boy, obliged to work very hard, willing to do it without grumbling. He is the boy that will make his way in the world. Later in life he will obtain many by honest labor; then is his chance for education. Now picture to your mind the city chap.

He may also be honest, bright, willing to work and able to endure hardships. He has just the same chance as the country boy or any other person, if he is willing to work. Such things will be remembered, and probably set examples for others. Garfield was born and reared in the country; did he amount to anything? Did Shakespeare? I have read several letters saying that the country boy had the greater advantage in life, but anyone with brains, honesty and willingness to work can rise up in life.

City Boy Wins.

Editor AMERICAN:

The city boy has the greatest opportunity for success in life notwithstanding the great hogie, Temptation, and worldly environment. Born and bred to the heart of a great municipality, with free public schools as a beacon, he heeds the call of knowledge, and absorbs it, sends him to college, which he leaves in wisdom.

Ferdinand Cortez, the conqueror of Mexico, was a city boy. At the age of fourteen he was sent to the University of Salamanca to study law. Sir Walter Raleigh was born in Devonshire and studied at Oxford. John Hancock, Patrick Henry and Benjamin Franklin were city boys, and history tells us they succeeded well. The city ranks first as a moulder of character, essential, aye imperative quality of the successful man.

PRICE ON EGGS DROP FOUR CENTS IN DAY

Boston egg prices have dropped 4 cents as a result of weakness in outside markets and large local receipts. Eggs had accumulated during the past few days, and restrictions held them off the market till the situation became dangerous. The break in other markets led to the release of many of them and prices broke under the offerings.

WHY COLDS LEAD TO PNEUMONIA

When a cold is neglected it attacks the lining of the lungs—then it's pneumonia. Peruna or Peruna Tablets cures colds and prevents pneumonia because it nourishes the system and drives out the poisonous waste matter and many other ways of treating a cold is likely to lead to pneumonia. Not "cough syrups" or "balsam" depending upon dangerous and weakening drugging drugs, but a good medicine and body builder.

IF YOU CAN'T GET YOUR STOMACH REGULATED, EAT A FEW DIAPEPSIN!

Time it! In five minutes there will be no Indigestion, Sourness, Heartburn, Gas or Dyspepsia.

You don't want a slow remedy when your stomach is bad—or an uncertain one—or a harmful one—your stomach is too valuable; you mustn't injure it with drastic drugs.

Pape's Diapepsin is noted for its speed in giving relief; its harmlessness; its certain unfailing action in regulating sick, sour, gassy stomachs. Its millions of cures in indigestion, dyspepsia, gastritis and other stomach trouble has made it famous the world over.

Keep this perfect stomach doctor in your home—keep it handy—get a large fifty-cent case from any drug store and then if anyone should eat something which doesn't agree with them; if what they eat lies like lead, ferments and sours and forms gas; causes headache, dizziness and nausea; eructations of acid and undigested food—remember as soon as Pape's Diapepsin comes in contact with the stomach all such distress vanishes. Its promptness, certainty and ease in overcoming the most obstinate case of stomach disorder is a revelation to those who try it.

MORSE SEEKS HEALTH TO BATTLE OLD FOES

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—Charles W. Morse arose today from his own bed at the Milano apartments and breathed the free air of New York for the first time since his sentence on November 6, 1905, to fifteen years in the Federal Prison at Atlanta. It was said early this morning that the former financial power had passed a good night and was improved after his long journey from the South which brought him into New York last night.

Mr. Morse seemed in very fair health when he reached the Milano, where he immediately secluded himself in his apartments. Quickly the report spread that Morse was in the Milano. He may or may not have been flattered when a crowd gathered and walked to and fro before the pertinent house, gazing at the upper windows and repeating:

"Morse is here." "Morse is back from prison."

What appeared to be an unusual number of persons entered and left the Milano after his arrival. Not one would acknowledge that he was there to visit Morse.

With the money that he has saved from the wreck, Morse and his always devoted wife will sail for Bad Nauheim, Germany, within the next ten days or two weeks. Physicians regard the saline waters of that spa as most efficacious in the treatment of heart disease, hardening of the heart, Bright's disease and the other serious ailments with which Morse is afflicted.

To Brave Death for Revenge.

At an indefinite date, dependent upon a continuation of his recovery, Morse plans to return to New York for vengeance on those whom he trusted, and who, he declares, turned on him when he was down and by legal process took from him securities to which he claims he is justly entitled.

He made this statement to a close friend a short time ago in Atlanta. He did not name the men to whom he referred, but left no doubt in the mind of the man to whom he uttered the threat that he meant it to be taken with the utmost seriousness.

Dr. A. L. Fowler of Atlanta, who accompanied Morse and his wife, said:

"I am firmly convinced that if Mr. Morse attempts to go back to Wall Street, it will be fatal to him. I have not told him so in words for he knows my opinion. Wall Street, with its excitement and worries, is not the place for a man in Mr. Morse's physical condition."

Yet at the very moment of his arrival Morse passed through an exciting scene that must have annoyed him. He did not appear to be disturbed.

Morse greeted his children in the same old affectionate way that made them and his wife always acclaim him the ideal father and husband.

As for baby Morse—well, any proud grandfather knows how it feels to gaze for the first time upon a grandchild.

At Washington the New York papers were sent to Morse. He sat up all the way to New York reading the papers, giving close attention to the Wall Street news; the market report greatly interested him.

As she left the train here, Mrs. Morse said: "My husband is standing the journey far better than I expected. Now that he is going home, I know he will improve, but he is a very sick man and the trip tires him. I am happy in having him with me and hope for the best. More than that I cannot say."

Eyes Shine Brightly.

Morse refused to let the newspaper men see him until he was forced to show himself upon leaving the train here. When he stepped from the sleeping car to the station platform he was enveloped in a fur coat, the upturned collar of which covered the lower part of his face. But above the line of fur Morse's eyes seemed to shine just as brightly and to have retained all the piercing look they had in the days of his greatest prosperity. The part of his cheeks that were visible had a slight flush.

Morse refused to make any reply to any of the following questions, in which a considerable section of the public is deeply interested, and which the newspapermen submitted to him:

Have you benefited any interest in your old enterprises, such as the Metropolitan Steamship lines, the Hudson Navigation Company and the American Ice Company?

Have you any interest in the Assets Realization Company, and, through it, in the controlling interest in Metropolitan Steamship and Hudson Navigation?

Have all your properties, including the above, and your bank stocks passed irretrievably out of your hands?

You made a strong fight for the rehabilitation of your properties through the Morse Securities Company in 1908. Was that fight in any measure successful and does the Morse Securities Company now hold the control or any stock interest in any of your old properties?

Have you any expectations or assurances of renewed financial support from your old friends, such as would serve to give you another start in business life?

Dr. Fowler was perfectly willing to discuss Morse's physical condition. He said:

"Sicker Than He Thinks."

"Morse is a much sicker man than he thinks he is. He has improved since his release, but there is no telling how soon he may die. That he is more optimistic than his condition justifies must be perfectly plain to any physician who examines him.

"He is suffering from Bright's disease and from valvular disease of the heart. The former is certain death in time and the latter might end his life at any time. On the other hand he may survive many attacks of the valvular trouble, and the Bright's disease may be controlled so that he will linger for considerable time.

"He is subject to periodic attacks of the valvular trouble that is known to physicians as cardiac dyspnoea. In plain language that means that the valve through which the blood is pumped from the heart fails to close and the blood is likely to rush back into the heart instead of into the arteries.

ARE YOU A GAMBLING PERSON? The Kaiserjammers are nearing port in the Sunday AMERICAN. What odds will you lay that Captain John and the other pesky pirates don't get away with the gold before the Proost sticks her nose into Atlantic avenue?

Former Banker C. W. Morse and How He Traveled to New York

Morse was under the care of a physician during the entire journey from Atlanta to New York.

SIMPLE REMEDY FOR KIDNEYS

The following prescription is known to be one of the most effective obtainable for quick relief and permanent restoration of the kidneys and bladder: "Half ounce fluid extract Buchu, half ounce Murax compound, six ounces of good gin. Take one to two teaspoonfuls after each meal and at bedtime." Any druggist can mix or furnish the ingredients of this prescription.

Pain in the back, rheumatic pains, frequent and scanty urination and pains in groin are nature's warnings that the kidneys are deranged, and should have immediate attention, or serious illness, such as Bright's disease or diabetes, are likely to follow.

The men are employed at the Biddeford cotton mills.

CARNEGIE GIVES 2 SOMERVILLE LIBRARIES

A library "bilding" to cost $125,000 is promised the city of Somerville in a "simplified spelling" letter just received from Andrew Carnegie. Speaking familiarly of "offises," "bildings" "nearly thousand dollars and such, Mr. Carnegie, through his secretary, explains that if the city will first raise $45,000, he will give it $80,000. The letter reads as follows:

New York, Feb. 6, 1912.

Andrew Carnegie,
2 East 91st street,
Mayor Charles A. Burns and T. M. Durell, Esquire, President of the Library Trustees, Somerville, Massachusetts:

Dear Sirs—In response to yours of January 20th and other letters re a grant of library bilding for Somerville —Mr. Carnegie notes that the city is willing to take over the present library bilding for general city offises and turn over the cost of the same, forty-five thousand dollars, for behoof of new library bilding. Mr. Carnegie will be glad to add eighty thousand dollars to the forty-five thousand dollars to pay for a library bilding to cost one hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars complete and redy to occupy. The city must pay over the forty-five thousand dollars and expend it on the new bilding before drawing on Mr. Carnegie. It must pledge maintenance of library in new bilding of minimum of twelve thousand five hundred dollars annually, in addition to the twenty-five hundred dollars already pledged in connection with present library. The city must also provide site for a new bilding and make the plans of structure such as Mr. Carnegie will approve.

Respectfully yours,
(Signed) JAS. BERTRAM,
P. Secretary.

Stomach in Your Vest Pocket

Tablets that Have the "Stomach-Power" of a Real Stomach—Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Trial Package Sent Free to Prove It.

When your stomach's overworked—and the average person's stomach is overworked a good part of the time—take Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and give the stomach a week or a month off. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets do more than assist digestion—they actually digest the food themselves, because they contain only the natural elements of the digestive fluids.

"I've Got It Right Here. You Never Catch ME Without a Box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets in My Vest Pocket."

Coated tongue, bad breath, heartburn, belching, flatulency, bloat—all the symptoms of digestive troubles disappear quickly when these tablets are used. They are not a cure for anything but dyspepsia and kindred complaints. But they have brought relief to more sufferers from digestive diseases than all the patent medicines and doctors' prescriptions put together.

The stomach does the heaviest work of any of the bodily organs, yet it's the one we treat with the least regard. We eat too much of the wrong kind of food at any time. The patient stomach stands such treatment as long as it can and then rebels. You get notice of the rebellion in the shape of the gases and pains caused by undigested, fermenting food.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will put the stomach right again in short order, and enable you to eat what you want when you want it. Carry them around with you; they are an actual substitute for a weakened, "all-in" stomach. They act in a hurry when you want relief; they act quickly, promptly, safely and naturally in digesting your food, just as Nature does herself; they bring the stomach back to normal action.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold and recommended by all druggists at 50c and $1.00 a box. If you would like a trial package we will send you one, free, on receipt of your name and address. Write to F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

BRIDAL COUPLE RUN FROM FIRE

SALEM, Feb. 9.—Three children were rescued and five persons were driven, thinly clad, into the street early to-day in a fire that wrecked the frame dwelling house at No. 92 Harbey street, occupied by Davis Graff and family. The fire caused damage estimated at $3,500.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Walman, guests of the Graffs, who were married last night at the Graff home, were among those forced into the street. Wedding presents and the trousseau of Mrs. Walman were destroyed.

The fire started in the first floor of the house. It was discovered by Graff, who was awakened by the thick smoke. He aroused the other members of the household, including his wife and three children, a niece named Greenberg and the newly married couple.

Through the flame strode the Graffs carrying their three children to the front street, the whole room was ablaze, but fortunately in getting out.

The firemen, after they reached the house on the top of Witch Hill, were handicapped greatly by frozen hydrants.

Mrs. Walman was disconsolate at the loss of the wedding gown, in which she was married last night, and their gifts.

FOWLER ENDS TRIP ACROSS CONTINENT

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Feb. 9.—The second man to accomplish the feat, Robert G. Fowler, officially finished his long trip by aeroplane across the continent when he landed at Moncrief Park here.

Fowler left San Francisco for New York September 11, 1911, went as far as Emigrant Gap, September 24, turned back on account of storms, started again for the Atlantic coast from Los Angeles October 21, made 1,700 miles in eighteen flying days to Houston, Tex., arrived at New Orleans December 31, left New Orleans January 4, and arrived at Brantley, Ala., January 16, after five days in the aeroplane, the remainder of the time being delayed by storms.

NEWSPAPER CAMERA ARTISTS GIVE DANCE

The second annual reception and ball of the Newspaper Photographers of Boston was held last evening in Copley Hall, Copley square. Over 500 guests numbered their night clothing in a fire early today in the three-story lodging house at No. 55 Silsbee street, Lynn. The interior of the structure was destroyed.

Miss Martha Benson, who was asleep on the second floor, was overcome by smoke. The firemen found her and rescued her.

Mrs. Hazel Davis was found helpless from fright on the second floor. She was carried to the street by her husband.

Wilbur Pooler, who ran the lodging house, discovered the flames. They had started in the basement and were driven out of the room before the firemen reached the scene.

Ralph Wilcutt, who roomed on the second floor, attempted to arouse others in the house when the smoke awoke him. He was overcome by smoke in one of the narrow hallways. A fireman stumbled over his body and carried him to the street just in time to save his life.

On the first floor lived William Berrigan, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Davis, and Wilbur Pooler, young people. On the second floor, Ralph Wilcutt, L. W. Low, Miss Annie Brown, Mr. and Mrs. William Barclay, Mr. and Mrs. Pooler, Jr., and rooms. The third floor was occupied by Wilbur Winters, Seward Lefavor, Frank Tucker and L. Winters.

Pooler ran through the building awakening the lodgers. When they got out of their warm beds into the cold the smoke was so dense none of them thought of any other clothing, and they made a dash for safety.

They found the front stairways cut off by the flames and ran to the rear stairways. From there they made their way to the street.

The structure was an old-fashioned wooden house and under the roof for the flames. In their absence all of their clothes were poured into the building, nothing but an empty shell remained when the flames and the blaze got through.

The house was owned by Dr. Joseph W. Pinkham, medical examiner. It was the old residence of the Pinkhams and was practically a total loss.

The whole damage was estimated at $7,500.

Mrs. Davis was found helpless on second floor of burning home early today on Silsbee street.

2 WOMEN SAVED FROM LYNN FIRE

Two women and one man were carried out and a dozen men and women fled in their night clothing in a fire early today in the three-story lodging house at No. 55 Silsbee street, Lynn. The interior of the structure was destroyed.

MANY DISCUSS DEATH PENALTY

Is capital punishment inexpedient, no matter what the crime? This issue is being discussed by the New England public in letters to the AMERICAN on the Brigham case. Those opposed to capital punishment admit in many cases the severity of Ark. Lindell was one of the most abominable traitors that ever made a country slaughter.

But they declare capital punishment is not justified under any circumstances. The arguments put forward in the letters given below are deeply New England and has been altered by the crime. Some recent letters on the case follow:

From a Wakefield Pastor.

Editor AMERICAN:

Should capital punishment be changed to life imprisonment in the case of murder in the first degree? What is the basis for the capital punishment? The law as stated in the article by the bishop.

"Whoso sheddeth man's blood, by man shall his blood be shed." We are not bound in forms of the law; it was fulfilled and done away in the gospel, when Jesus rose from the dead. Therefore, the state is not bound to continue capital punishment on that basis.

We must look to the New Testament to see if it says to put to death a murderer. If so, capital punishment should not be abolished; if not, then it is a crime to continue it. Jesus Christ is the New Testament standard for capital punishment? Jesus Christ was murdered by the powers and authority of the government. He died forever that all may have salvation and eternal bonds. being the one all-sufficient atonement for sin. To offer a human sacrifice would be to make "the cross of Christ" of none effect. To sacrifice a human being would be anti-Christian.

Why does a murderer get put to death? To rid society of his presence. To avenge a crime. To atone for the law he has broken. But as Paul says the law came in afterward, and that the law might be fulfilled that the duty of police and officers of justice, even to the taking of life in case of extreme necessity for the upholding of the law. But in the very same chapter of the Bible we read, "Love worketh no ill to his neighbor; therefore love is the fulfilling of the law." In the same epistle, "Recompense to no man evil for evil," and "overcome evil with good."

The very thing that makes the taking of human life to be murder in the first degree is its deliberate, aforethought intent to kill. The act of government in the execution of a murderer contains these elements and loses the official murder and is contrary to the commands quoted above.

Does execution of the murderer benefit him? Does the rushing out of a soul into eternity prematurely help his case? It is surely bad enough now, let alone in the thirst out to meet his God in such a condition. It would seem as though a long life would be needed if penitence a reparation might make that soul fit to stand before the judgment seat of Christ. Which do all souls, the day stand, just and unjust, sheriff and murderer.

Search someone else, protest society. If a murderer is to be loosed for life he surely protested. Any well man can taste the sweetness of living; and if the state is not a fiendish loser. Does the fear of death keep one from murder? It doesn't look like it of late. It is a sad thing to hear the motley living today commanding "a fellow under" to Beelzebub, to use like the Pharisees.

All souls are precious in the sight of God. Murder is the only capital crime we recognize it with capital punishment? Vengeance is mine, saith the Lord, saith the Lord. If I were a Governor I would let the murderer live and spend his days in life imprisonment. If I were a Representative I would introduce a bill for the abolishing of capital punishment in Massachusetts. For the law was given by Moses, but grace and truth came by Jesus Christ."

FRANK JAMES NOYES,
Pastor of Trinity M. E. Church, Wakefield, Mass.

"Judge Not."

Editor AMERICAN:

I am greatly impressed by the opinion of the public and exceedingly astonished at the judgment of the Christian ministers toward Richeson.

It is most refreshing and striking to hear them condemning the man and to hear chiefly terrible words from him who has suffered and is still suffering.

Whether their judgment be in assembly or individually, they are not in the least degree are opening wide the gate that satan may slip his devil's tail and be ready for some and take full possession of their hearts, which would surely manifest in condemnation and punishment.

Mr. Richeson's letter and solemn prayer is that they will discontinue their talk, standing to their own affairs and shun error, that they may prove to the world the mercy inherent in the true spirit of forgiving Christ and peace of peace, making an acknowledgment of their sins as God has proved himself to be a man at cost and self-denials in public.

Mark this, whoever you may be. Who are you that judges, except God? You say not know that God is the only righteous judge? Judge not, that ye be not judged remember that you are in danger of death if you judge.

Have we not all sinned and come short of the glory of God? Have your sins forgiven or your own righteousness? Search yourself; are you without sin? If so, you may cast the first stone. But then hypocrite, take out the beam which is in your own eye that you may see clearly to take the mote which is in your brother's eye.

"Surely," you will say, "I am not as sinful as Richeson." Remember, that the least and the greatest sin are alike. God says whoso break one commandment and the one of us has transgressed the law both exactly in the same state of sin in the sight of God. Again, remember that the same God who said, "Kill not" also said, "Judge not."

The Boston Sunday AMERICAN will tell "all about" how Jack and Julia are getting along. The story fills two pages. It is illustrated with a dozen pictures, many of them never before published.

HOW YOU CAN REDUCE THE COST OF LIVING.

The God of living keeps going up. Meat, fish, butter, sugar and the necessaries of life are many times what they were a few years ago. The remedy on SUNDAY'S AMERICAN.

AWARD HEARST YACHT PRIZES

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Yachtsmen, members of the National Yacht Club, their guests and friends, applauded the name of William Randolph Hearst at the fifty-sixth annual banquet of the organization held in the Hotel Astor.

Winners of races held under the auspices of the National Yacht Club during the season of 1911, including the Bonnet Bullitas corinthian race, the long distance powerboat race during the year, were presented with trophies and prizes donated by Mr. Hearst.

Prizes for the great Halifax race also represented an aggregate of $2,500 in cash and trophies, each of the three speedy fifth power craft to compete and being in the trying contest receiving handsome rewards.

Frederick C. Sower, present commodore of the club, who presided, introduced Vice Commodore Conrad V. Dickerman as toastmaster. The latter announced Mr. Hearst had sent word he would be unable to be present, being suddenly called away to the South.

COUPON AIDS IN EDUCATION

One of the most comprehensive, interesting and interesting articles in the field of information contained in the New Census Atlas of the World, one of the three reference books offered to the AMERICAN readers, is the "Description and Geographical Distribution of the Principal Commodities of Industry."

This article, written by W. A. Taylor, M. A. F. R. G. S., includes a lucid description of all the articles of commerce of the world, together with information concerning where they come from, their physical properties, all the way from alcohol to zinc.

Included in this article are maps of the world showing the wheat producing countries, rice, tea, coffee and cocoa producing countries, the steamer routes, and also engravings showing the methods of production in the different countries.

This is only a small part of the valuable information given in the New Census Atlas of the World. The way to get it is to clip the coupon in the AMERICAN daily for seven days and add a little money. It is a very valuable and instructive book.

Red Tag Sale

$1.00, $1.50 Shirts 69c
We've never sold as many shirts in a given space of time as at this sale. You'll see the reason why if you take a look at the shirts.

To every one who knows Wolf's, a Red Tag Sale means big doings in the way of values. When we give the word that one of these sales is on, the crowds gather quickly—for everyone knows what to expect and is anxious to get his or her share.

This year's sale has shown an increase over last year's by a good wide margin, and we're looking for an even greater increase when the news of the following items gets noised about. All small lots, broken sizes, overstocks, slow sellers—in fact, any merchandise we want to clear out—we Red Tag. The white price ticket, indicating the original price the article formerly sold at, remains on the goods—a Red Tag, showing the reduced price it is now to be sold at, is also on the article.

TURKS DEFEAT ITALIAN ARMY

CONSTANTINOPLE, Feb. 9.—Turkey will only entertain peace proposals upon the retraction of Italy's decree annexing Tripoli, according to announcement from the Turkish council of ministers today. This statement was forthcoming, it is said, in answer to inquiries of foreign powers as to the terms on which Turkey would enter into peace negotiations.

Turkish officialdom was elated to-day over reports of a crushing defeat administered to the Italian columns at Derna and Benghazi by the allied Turco-Arab army.

According to advices from the front the Italians were defeated with heavy loss of life and pursued by the Turks to their blockhouses at Ahmara castle.

Additional advices seeking to confirm reports earlier in the week that three Italian transports had been sunk off Tobruk, Bomba and Taormina were received today.

These dispatches conveyed information that a number of bodies of Italian soldiers had been washed ashore at the three ports mentioned and that carcasses of horses and ammunition casks had been cast upon the beach by the waves.

DEWEY ARGUES HIS OWN CASE

District Attorney Webber asked McLellan:

"Will you tell me anything you have observed as to the mental condition of Judge Dewey?"

Judge Dewey objected on the ground that the question was too general. Judge Grant directed the witness to answer, which he did thus:

"About four years ago I was engaged on the opposite side from Judge Dewey in a breach of promise case. He made peculiar statements during the progress of the case."

Judge Dewey—I object.

Judge Grant—The witness may state what Judge Dewey said.

McLellan continued:

"In the course of his argument Judge Dewey referred to the Constitution, the Declaration of Independence and the 'natural law' without connecting his references with the case in any way."

Suit Against the G. G. A.

Judge Dewey objected and was overruled. McLellan continued:

"The next time was at the trial of the case of Dewey vs. Minot et als., which is known as a suit for libel against the Good Government Association. The suit was first brought for $50,000. Application was made to increase the plea for damages to $450,000, a few days later to $6,450,000 and soon after to $76,450,000."

At this point District Attorney Pelletier entered and took a seat by Mr. Webber.

McLellan added:

"When the case came to trial Judge Dewey insisted on interjecting the jurisdiction of their religious beliefs, but drew no deductions nor made any argument from their answers."

That $76,450,000 Damage Case.

McLellan, in his concluding testimony, said Dewey had told him he (Dewey) was a "good Democrat" and that Judge Grant was of different religion than he.

After McLellan's testimony Assistant District Attorney Webber introduced the famous bill of exceptions and pleading filed by Dewey after the first trial of the Good Government Association libel case. It was in the pleadings that Dewey raised the damages from $50,000 to $76,450,000 in rapid jumps.

Judge Dewey picked up the papers containing the exceptions and pleadings and started to read them. In spite of the efforts of Judge Grant to dictate him Dewey insisted on reading all the exceptions and part of the pleadings. It took, with the time required for interruptions, just fifty-two minutes, beginning at 10:30. When he had read for twenty-five minutes Judge Grant asked:

"Is there any need that all this be read to the court?

Dewey—"I am simply reading a paper that the petitioner has put in evidence."

District Attorney Webber suggested that Dewey read it later and save time.

O'Meara in Court.

Judge Grant—If Judge Dewey has any reason for reading this matter I will not interfere.

Dewey merely kept on reading. At this point Police Commissioner O'Meara entered.

A few moments later Judge Grant asked Dewey to let the reading go by exception to till after witnesses had testified.

Dewey—Unless you order me to stop, I shall go on. This is the orderly and proper way to do it, and I think it is competent at this time to read this matter.

While Dewey was saying this Judge Grant started to speak for the third time, but Dewey kept on serenely, raising his voice at the same time. Finally Judge Grant got in these few words:

"It is in the discretion of the court."

Dewey (breaking in)—"It is in the court's discretion, yes, but discretion means wisdom and prudence. It is not proper for the judge, in his own caprice, to stop the reading of a document presented by counsel in a case and admitted as evidence."

Judge Grant—"What advantage do you expect to gain by reading it now, rather than later?"

Dewey—"I know of no advantage. It may be the worst thing in the world for me. But I want to read it, just the same."

Dewey Interrupts Himself.

Judge Grant—Very well.

Then Judge Dewey said: "Seventeen" indicating the number of the next section in the exceptions, and kept on reading. At 12:05, when Dewey had been reading for thirty-three minutes, Judge Grant asked for a copy of the document, which was given him by Mr. Webber.

Dewey seemed much annoyed by people entering and leaving the court while he was reading. He peered at them over the Dewey interrupted himself, saying:

"I have now finished the exceptions proper. To them, however, I attached the pleadings. At Judge Grant's request I shall read only the last one of these, as the others are all alike in the case."

Then Dewey read the motion, referring to the Good Government libel case, which he demanded increase in the amount of damages to $76,450,000. At 11:2 Dewey finished his reading of the motion.

Henry F. Hurlburt, Jr., attorney, was the second witness. He was asked by Mr. Webber to relate anything out of the usual in regard to Dewey. He said I can't.

Refers to Marcon Case.

"Just before the Good Government Association case we were on opposite side in another suit. At our conference Judge Dewey often bemoaned on the Good Government Association case. He said he was going to have a hard time in getting justice in the case because the judges o the bench had a very low opinion of the institution and the natural and proper law. He said somebody some day would have to take a gun to them, but he hoped that in his case it would not be that way.

"In connection with another of our cases a motion presented by Judge Dewey entitled 'A motion to maximize the anti-character issue.'"

At Mr. Webber's request Mr. Hurlburt then read this "motion to maximize," which was filed last June by Dewey in the Good Government case, the Marcon vs. Manic case and three other cases in which Dewey was counsel. In this motion Dewey complained of the court clerks, accused them of interfering with the judges and asked for a change of venue to Franklin County.

Judge Dewey's Career.

Judge Dewey is a second cousin of Admiral Dewey and the son of a former paymaster in the United States Navy. He is a native of Hanover, N. H., and a graduate of Dartmouth College, '78. His youth was spent at army posts. He came to Boston in 1879 as army paymaster's clerk. He studied at Boston University Law School and was admitted to the Massachusetts bar in 1882. He was a member of the First Corps Cadets from 1880 to 1889. He became judge advocate on the First Brigade staff and later judge advocate on the staff of Governor Crane. He was sent to the Common Council from Ward 21 from '85 to '87, and to the House from '89 to '91. He was appointed Justice of the Municipal Court in 1896 and served six years.

Judge Dewey never married. He has made his home for years at the Norfolk House in Roxbury. He is a member of the University Club, B. A. A., International Law Association and American Bar Association.

Seven years ago he was an unsuccessful candidate for Mayor. Three years ago he tried for the Republican nomination for Governor. On one Sunday in the nomination campaign he spoke for twelve hours continuously on Boston Common.

JAISINT GAEKWAR, WHO HAS FINISHED HARVARD COURSE

GAEKWAR OF BARODA

The Gaekwar was compelled his examinations at Harvard six months ahead of time, and has quit the institution. He is now in New York, and will soon sail for India.

GAEKWAR WINS HARVARD 'B. A.'

"Gack. B. A."

That's the title now of Prince Jaisint Gaekwar of Baroda, the heir apparent to the throne of the Indian state of Baroda, who has obtained his bachelor of arts degree at Harvard six months ahead of time. Results of the midyear examinations at Harvard show that the "Gack," as he is familiarly called in his future collegians, has passed the mid-years with flying colors and has won his degree six months ahead of his classmates of 1912. He made preparations to leave Harvard as soon as he was informed that he had climbed his fences. He is now in New York and will return to Cambridge soon to make final preparations for sailing to England and thence to the Orient. Next June, while his classmates are receiving their degrees, the "Gack" will be enjoying home life at Baroda, which he has not seen since he was a boy.

The "Gack" has been a picturesque figure in Harvard undergraduate life. He is of lively disposition and was not rated as extra studious. But he evidently has been putting in some quiet hours of study, judging by the way he passed the exams.

The young man has been pestered by reporters of late on account of the sensational stories arising after the recent Delhi Durbar, where his royal father, the ruler of Baroda, was said to have slighted the King and Queen of England.

CONSTANTINO SINGS FAREWELL TOMORROW

Constantino sings his Boston farewell at the Opera House tomorrow night in "La Boheme." Constantino is leaving Boston next week to fill an engagement in Mexico and Central America. After that he will go to Buenos Ayres. Lucille Marcel, who enjoys a fine reputation in Europe, will make her American debut at the Opera House next Wednesday night as Tosca. She will sing again Friday night, when she will be the Marguerite in "Faust."

CONGRESSMEN TO ADDRESS SHOE MEN

The New England Shoe and Leather Association, the Boston Boot and Shoe Club and individual dealers and manufacturers will be joint hosts at a banquet to the salesmen identified with the trade at Hotel Somerset on Wednesday evening, February 21. Congressman Ernest W. Roberts will deliver the principal address, his subject being "Government Control of the Corporations." Other speakers will be George E. Keith of Brockton, John F. Flynn, President of the National Shoe Travelers' Association; President Charles H. Hoyt of the New England Shoe and Leather Association, and Alfred W. Donovan, president of the Boston Boot and Shoe Club.

EX-MAYOR ADAM OF BUFFALO DEAD

Exquisite Loveliness of Hair and Skin

(Aside Biz in The Boston)

"The exquisite loveliness of English girls' complexions can be gained by American women who take the same care. Instead of powder and paint, use simple lotion made at home by dissolving an original package of mayatone in a half-pint of witch hazel. Apply in morning, rubbing gently, and your complexion will be as clear, soft and shiny as a baby's—with no dark or muddy discoloration.

"Abundant and glossy hair follows continued dry shampooing. Wetting takes the life out, and makes hair brittle and colorless. Put a cupful of cornmeal in a fruit jar, add an original package of Mayatone, shake together, and you have a six months' supply of shampoo powder. Sprinkle a little on the head and brush out well. Do this every week or two and your hair will be bright, free and wavy.

"Don't neglect a cold. You must be able to look your best. Remember, colds lead to chronic catarrh. The best remedy for colds, catarrh, sore throat, croup, etc., is Mother's Salve. It is wonderfully healing."

PLAN FIGHT TO FREE BRANDT

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Court action in the Brandt case will begin next Tuesday or Wednesday.

On one of those days James W. Osborne and Mirabeau L. Towns will appear before Judge Otto A. Rosalsky and ask that the case be placed on trial or an application will be made to the Supreme Court for a writ of habeas corpus. Final decision as to the procedure will be made today, as Judge Otto A. Rosalsky avoided one more night in which to look up precedents and consult with distinguished jurists. The two prominent lawyers have become interested on principle in the case of the former servant of Mortimer L. Schiff, son of Jacob H. Schiff.

Judges and lawyers interested in the case because of the vital principles at stake testified yesterday that as to their opinion there is no doubt that Judge Rosalsky can correct a miscarriage of justice in his court or that a corrective can be obtained through another court. Many letters and opinions to this effect have been received at District Attorney Whitman's office.

It is now known that action in the case will come from Dave Warshauer.

Messrs. Osborne, Shearn, Towns and others who will represent the heads will soon determined that the precedent of the Brandt case is dangerous to the orderly administration of the law.

CARDINAL GUEST AT RECEPTION TONIGHT

Mrs. James M. Morrison will give a reception in honor of Cardinal O'Connell at her home, No. 300 Walnut avenue, Roxbury, to-night. BRITISH ENVOY KAISER'S GUEST

BERLIN, Feb. 9.—The German Emperor and Empress today gave a luncheon at the Imperial Palace in honor of Viscount Haldane, the British Secretary of State for War. Among those invited to meet Viscount Haldane were Dr. von Bethman Hollweg, the Imperial Chancellor; Admiral Alfred von Tirpitz, the Minister of Marine, and General Josias von Heeringen, Minister for War.

Nothing definite about the nature of the discussions between the British statesman and his German colleagues has become known.

PROMISES CHINA FREE RELIGION

NANKING, Feb. 9.—American missionaries in China have placed a petition in the hands of President Sun Yat Sen asking that the republic guarantee religious freedom to all its subjects. President Sun, who is a Christian, guaranteed to use his best endeavors to bring this about, although he pointed out that weighty affairs which vitally affect the life of the republic must be attended to first.

It is believed that, when tranquillity is restored and the empire is united, freedom of worship will be proclaimed officially.

OLD 'IM BOYS
I'M AN AMERICAN CITIZEN
GIVE DESMOND A FAIR AND SQUARE TRIAL
OLD 'IM
NOW ALTOGETHER TOURISTS. HOLLOA!
SAY, MEMBERS OF THE CHEERS TOURS, HERE COMES THE KING'S YACHT ON HIS WAY HOME FROM THE INDIAN DURBAR
HORRORS! THE AMERICAN TOURISTS ARE TRYING TO TAKE THE CIVIL DESMOND AWAY FROM THE GIBRALTAR SOLDIERS
THOSE TOURISTS DO NOT KNOW THAT THE LIL DESMOND TRIED TO STEAL ME CLAUDE
SAVED! I WON'T BE STRETCHED TO DEATH
AUNT MARY IN KEOKUK IOWA WILL GET A POSTAL PHOTO
HERE GOES A SNAPSHOT OF THE KING
AL. JEAD MAKE IS KEOKUK IOWA
THE SALUTE FROM THIS GIBRALTAR GUN HAS BURNED THE ROPE - I'M FREE! FROM THE BRITISH SOLDIERS WHO ARE DRAGGING ME DOWN
I'LL HANG FROM THIS GUN AND NOW TO LAND ON THE AWNINGS OF THE KINGS YACHT AND ESCAPE
ISN'T THE KING GRAND ROSAMOND? HE IS SMILING TO US, DEAR!
WHILE THE LOVERS CLAUDE AND ROSAMOND ARE WATHING THE KING, I'LL CRAWL ABOARD AND STEAL HER

Up on the top of Gibralter's great rock a strange struggle is taking place. American tourists, ignorant of Desmond's criminal career, are endeavoring in a wild tug of war to rescue him from the soldiers of the British garrison. Fair below Claude and Rosamond, to say nothing of the vengeful Don Frijole, watch the contest from their steamer. All three have cause for wishing Desmond to meet military justice.

Just as the tug is at its ruggiest point there comes an interruption. The tourists, intent upon the struggle in hand, have not been looking about them, but the guide, ever anxious to point out the sights, has observed the yacht passing. He does not know what yacht it is, any more than you or I might have known, but he immediately calls his charges to look at King George's steamer returning from the Indian Durbar.

Zing! Every tourist lets go the rope, and the soldiers, suddenly released, go toppling backwards over the cliff, dragging Desmond along. Not that the tourists care at all for a King, but it is each and every day that one gets a chance to take a snapshot of a real live monarch, and a monarch certainly makes a grand postal card, even if he isn't good for anything else. So Desmond is entirely forgotten.

Although hurtling through the air over the side of the great rock, Desmond does not lose his presence of mind. Everybody might learn a lesson from the scoundrel in this respect. It is foolish to get flustered, no matter what happens. So Desmond, while falling apparently to certain death, notices that the powder from a saluting gun has burned the rope that bound him to the soldiers. We hope they fell in a soft spot, but don't know.

With the quickness of a cat, the villain catches his feet in the muzzle of the still smoking gun and hangs there for a moment. He knows that he has but a few seconds, for the next salute that is fired will blow his feet out. However, he has observed that the royal yacht is below him and he trusts that if he falls on the awnings, he will bounce inshort into the water. Risky, but the only chance he has left.

Desmond's plan was successful. He has dropped into the water and is now close beside the steamer where Claude and Rosamond are watching the King. Perhaps the King has heard of Claude's heroism and Rosamond's adventures and is waving his sympathy to them. It is quite likely. Don Frijole, the bandit, also regards the king intently. But Frijole is thinking what a ransom he would bring. For Desmond's plot see tomorrow's pictures.

PART I.—(Continued)

The Court Pawnbroker

"MR. SAMPSON LEVI wishes to see you, sir."

These words, spoken by a servant to Theodore Racksole, aroused the millionaire from a reverie which had been the reverse of pleasant.

The fact was, and it was necessary to insist on it, that Mr. Racksole, owner of the Grand Babylon, was by no means in a state of self-satisfaction. A mystery had attached itself to his hotel, and with all his acumen, and knowledge of things in general he was unable to solve the mystery.

He laughed at the fruitless efforts of the police, but he could not honestly say that his own efforts had been less barren.

The public was talking, for, after all, the disappearance of poor Dimmock's body had got noised abroad in an indirect sort of way, and Theodore Racksole did not like the idea of his impeccable hotel being the subject of sinister rumors.

He wondered grimly what the public and the Sunday newspapers would say if they were aware of all the other phenomena, not yet common property—of Miss Spencer's disappearance, of Jules' strange visits and of the non-arrival of Prince Eugen of Poten.

Theodore Racksole had worried his brains without result. He had conducted an elaborate private investigation without result, and he had spent a certain sum of money without result.

Police Had Clew

The police said that they had a clew, but Racksole remarked that it was always the business of the police to have a clew; that they seldom had more than a clew, and that a clew without some sequel to it was a pretty stupid business.

The only sure thing in the whole affair was that a cloud rested over his hotel, his beautiful new toy, the finest of its kind.

The cloud was not interfering with business, but, nevertheless, it was a cloud, and he fiercely resented its presence; perhaps it would be more correct to say that he fiercely resented his inability to dissipate it.

"Mr. Sampson Levi wishes to see you, sir," the servant repeated, having received no sign that his master had heard him.

"No I hear," said Racksole. "Does he want to see me personally?"

"He asked for you, sir."

"Perhaps it is Rocco he wants to see—about a menu or something of that kind."

"I will inquire, sir," and the servant made a move to withdraw.

"Stop," Racksole commanded suddenly. "Desire Mr. Sampson Levi to step this way."

The Great Stock Broker

The great stock broker entered with a simple, unassuming air.

He was a rather short, florid man, with too much watch chain and too little waistcoat.

In his fat hand he held a goldheaded cane and an absolutely new silk hat. Mr. Levi purchased a new hat every week of his life.

He glanced at the American millionaire with an expression in which a slight embarrassment might have been detected, but at the same time his round, red face disclosed a certain frank admiration and good nature.

"Mr. Racksole, I believe—Mr. Theodore Racksole. Proud to meet you, sir."

Such were the first words of Mr. Sampson Levi. Theodore Racksole liked their tone. He said to himself that here, after all, was an honest man.

THE NEW UN-DRESSES.

Lady Duff-Gordon, the famous fashion expert, describes the "robe desshabillaise," the very loose successor to the very tight bodices and sheaths. See

SUNDAY'S AMERICAN.

"Good day," said Racksole briefly. "To in that line; but I've just called to tell you that I object. I've called as a matter of principle. I'm not angry; it's the principle of the thing."

"My dear Levi," said Racksole. "I assure you that, having let the gold room to a private individual for a private entertainment, I should never dream of doing what you suggest."

"Straight?" asked Mr. Sampson Levi, using his own picturesque language.

"Straight," said Racksole, smiling.

The Strange Man at the Ball

"There was a great present at my ball that I didn't ask. I've got a wonderful memory for faces, and I know. Several fellows asked me afterward what he was doing there. I was told by some one that he was one of your waiters, but I didn't believe that.

"I know nothing of the Grand Babylon—it's not quite my style of tavern; but I don't think you'd send one of your own waiters to watch my guests—unless, of course, you sent him as a waiter; and this chap didn't do any waiting, though he did his share of drinking."

"Perhaps I can throw some light on this mystery," said Racksole. "I may tell you that I was already aware that a man had attended your ball uninvited."

"How did you get to know?"

"By pure chance, Mr. Levi, and not by inquiry. That man was a former waiter at this hotel—the head waiter, in fact—Jules. No doubt you have heard of him."

"Not I," said Mr. Levi positively.

"Ah!" said Mr. Racksole. "I was informed that every one knew Jules, but it appears not. Well, be that as it may, previously to the night of your ball, I had dismissed Jules. I had ordered him never to enter the Babylon again. But on that evening I encountered him here—not in the gold room, but in the hotel itself.

"I asked him to explain his presence, and he stated he was your guest. That is all I know of the matter, Mr. Levi, and I am extremely sorry that you should have thought me capable of the enormity of placing a private detective among your guests."

(To Be Continued Tomorrow.)

Arnold Bennett's great mystery story, "The Prince and the Plutocrat; or, The Grand Babylon Hotel," is running serially in the daily and Sunday AMERICAN. A generous instalment will be printed in Sunday's AMERICAN.

Detective Disliked

"The other night I had a ball in this hotel. It cost me a couple of thousand and odd pounds, and, by the way, I wrote out a check for your bill this morning. I don't like balls, but they're useful to me, and my little wife likes 'em, and so we give 'em.

"Now, I've nothing to say against the hotel management as regards that ball—it was very decently done, very decently—but what I want to know is this: Why did you have a private detective among my guests?"

"A private detective?" exclaimed Racksole, somewhat surprised at this charge.

"Yes," Mr. Sampson Levi said firmly, gazing at Theodore Racksole with the direct earnest expression of a man having a grievance. "Yes, a private detective. It's a small matter, I know, and I dare say you think you've got a right, as proprietor of the show, to do what you like

THE FIRST GRAY HAIR SIGN OF AGE. DON'T LOOK OLD BEFORE YOUR TIME.

A harmless remedy, made from common garden sage, quickly restores gray hair to natural color. The care of the hair, to prevent it from losing its color and lustre, is just as important as to care for teeth to keep them from discoloring. Why spend money for cosmetics and creams to improve the complexion, and yet neglect your hair, when gray hair is even more conspicuous and suggestive of age than wrinkles or a poor complexion? Of the two, it is easier to preserve the natural color and beauty of the hair than it is to have a good complexion.

All that is necessary is the occasional use of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, a preparation of common garden Sage and Sulphur, combined with other valuable remedies for dry, harsh, faded hair, dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair. After a few applications of this simple, harmless remedy, your hair will gradually be restored to its natural color, in a short time the dandruff will be removed, and your hair will no longer come out, but will start to grow as Nature intended it should.

Don't neglect your hair, for it goes further than anything else to make or mar your good looks. You can buy this remedy at any drug store for fifty cents a bottle, and your druggist will give your money back if you are not satisfied after using. Purchase a bottle to-day. You will never regret it when you realize the difference it will make in your appearance.

FRECKLES

Now is the Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots.

The woman with tender skin dreads February because it is sure to cover her face with ugly freckles. No matter how thick her veil, the sun and winds will surely make her freckle.

Fortunately for her peace of mind, the recent discovery of a new drug, othine—double strength, makes it possible for even those most susceptible to freckles to keep the skin clear and white. No matter how stubborn a case of freckles you have, the double strength othine will remove them. Get an ounce package from Houghton & Dutton or Riker-Jaynes drug stores, and banish the freckles. Money back if it fails.

MAY HAVE AUTO TRUCK RUN HERE

By J. C. KERRISON.

The possibilities of a motor truck run from Chicago to New York city are now being discussed at considerable length at the motor truck show now being held in Chicago.

It is generally conceded that motor truck endurance contests of the past have proven decisively the reliability of the truck and those who know of the results of the AMERICAN truck run in this city two years ago have full reason to coincide with this statement.

However, instead of having an endurance competition, it is now suggested that a motor truck line be established—said train to run from Chicago to New York city, going by easy stages and keeping a sufficient length of time in the several big cities to permit of changing loads and other inspecting the trucks that may be entered.

It would not be out of the way for the Automobile Dealers' Association of this city to arrange for such a trip as this during the coming Summer.

To hold a three-day trip of motor trucks would not be a very difficult proposition. The trucks on the first day could run from Boston to Providence, arriving there early in the afternoon and being placed on exhibition in the public square.

The second day the run to Worcester could be made and a similar display of trucks made in the afternoon on the Worcester that afternoon. The third day the run could be made in a two-hour spin to Boston.

There is no question that such a run as this would be of immeasurable value to the industry as a whole, as it would create an increased interest in motor trucks in general and give the different agents an opportunity to come in closer touch with the men who are in the market for the latest transportation vehicles.

Official announcement of the formation of the Gray & Davis Motor Company by C. G. Stoddard, former vice-president of the United States Motor Company, and his associate, H. J. Edwards, who recently resigned his position as chief engineer of the United States Motor Company, which was made at the automobile show in Chicago, has been followed by the positive statement that the new company will market a Knight motor pleasure car and also will bring out a full line of commercial cars, ranging from the light wagon to the heaviest carrying power wagon.

Mr. Stoddard, it is definitely known, has an option upon an experimental license to utilize the Knight type of valveless engine and after his resignation as vice-president of the big company seized upon the golden opportunity to establish a company that would have one of the limited licenses for the United States.

Under the terms of the agreement entered into between Charles Y. Knight, inventor of the valveless motor, and his European licensees the lines in the United States are finally drawn.

Mr. Stoddard has great confidence in the skill of Engineer Edwards and believes that the new models to be put out under his direction will be great triumphs in the automobile industrial world.

"In line with the huge other requirements of detail and high grade equipment on Hoo the Fifth—the last and most popular creation of the genius of Lee Shubert—we have adopted the Goodyear No-Rim-Cut tires as standard equipment," says Jerry Lincoln, the local Reo distributor.

"These popular tires are the only oversize which easily adds from 2% to 25 per cent to the tire mileage. The oversize is not measured by calipers, but by air capacity.

"As these tires have 25 per cent greater air capacity and have to carry the same load carrying capacity, without additional weight or cost, for this car, it should be plain to all why we find so much enthusiasm over our tire equipment among buyers of Reo the Fifth."

TO-DAY'S STOCK MARKETS; LATEST FINANCIAL NEWS

COPPERS LEAD RISE IN STOCKS

STATE STREET, Feb. 9.—Afternoon—Coppers were strong today owing to the decrease in metal stocks and the Boston market had a firm opening with more trading than has been witnessed for some time past.

Afternoon prices in this market were: Allouez 40¾, up ⅝; Calumet & Arizona 60¼, up ¼; Copper Range 52, up 1.

Franklin, up ½ at 13¾, then sold at 13½; Isle Royale 29½, off ⅛; Mass Consolidated 9⅝, off ⅛; Michigan 2, off ⅛; Wolverine 99½, up 2½; Chino up ⅛ at 26 then sold 26¼; East Butte 19, up ¼; Hancock 24, up ¼; and was active; Isle Royale sold off ⅛ to 23⅞, and then rose to 24¼.

Lake rose ⅛ to 3¼ and then sold fresh at 3¼, up 1¼; U. S. Smelting went up 2⅛ to 55⅛ and then sold at 55¼, on good buying.

Adventure & Alloues sold at 222, up ½; East Boston 14⅞, up ⅛; Shoe Machinery 47½, up ⅛.

Amazonda 25⅜, up ⅜; Amalgamated 65⅝, off ⅛; Steel 60⅝, up ⅛; Louisville & Nashville 153⅜, up 1⅛; New York Central 111, up ⅛; Reading 158⅜, up ⅜.

Erie 20⅝, up ⅛; Northern Pacific 117⅜, up ⅛; Chesapeake & Ohio 71⅝, up ⅛; Union 164¼, up ½; Smelters 74½, up ⅛; Utah Copper 58, up ⅛.

Prices Improve in New York.

The New York market opened rather weak, with Canadian Pacific leading declines on account of London selling. A stronger tone developed in the second hour and leading railroad and industrial issues made substantial gains. Copper stocks were rather irregular during the morning. Amalgamated declining and Utah rising on. Western Union was among the strong specialties, going up more than a point.

The day's business was large, sales at 1584%, up ⅜; Union Pacific 164¼, up ½; Reading 157⅞, off ⅛; Steel 60⅛, up ⅛; Northern Pacific 117⅝, up ⅜; Amalgamated 65⅜, up ⅛, and Louisville & Nashville 153⅝, up 1⅛.

There was less interest in the market on the part of the New York public than at any time since this year began. As a result, trading was limited to volume and in most issues prices ranges were narrow.

Copper Metal in Demand.

There was a heavy demand for copper metal from Europe around 13¼ cents, but most American producers and sellers declined these offers, standing firm for 14½ cents, here in the amount of $1,700,000 were withdrawn from the New York Assay Office today for shipment ex Paris by the steamship tomorrow. Gold coin to the amount of $250,000 has been withdrawn from the New York Sub-Treasury for South America.

New York Cotton Prices.

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Absence of active covering resulted in the cotton market opening three points higher to 5 points lower today, the new crop proposition being the weakest. Fair buying by commission houses held the market steady and there seemed to be evidence of broadening bullish tendency on the part of the public.

March opened 5@6 and May 10@11. July 10.25. August 10.27. September 10.21. October 10.23. December 10.25.

LIVERPOOL, Feb. 9.—Spot cotton, good business, prices easy. Middlings, 5.80d, up 5 points. Sales estimated 14,000 bales. Receipts, 10,000, all American. Futures opened steady, 2 to 5 up. At 12:30 p. m. quiet and steady, 2 to 5% up from previous close. March-April, 5.66½; May-June, 5.68; July-August, 5.66½; October-November, 5.55.

Chicago Wheat Opens Higher.

CHICAGO, Feb. 9.—The wheat market opened 5⅛ to ¼ cent higher, with the May option showing the greatest relative strength. Corn was up ¼ to ⅜ cent. Oats were ¼ to ⅝ cent higher. Provisions were higher, with an advance of 5 cents to 10 cents.

Opening prices: Wheat—May 102⅝ to 103⅝@104; July 97⅛ to 97⅞. Sept. 95 to 95¼. Corn—May 68⅛ to 68⅝@6⅞. July 65⅛ to 65⅜@⅝. Sept. 65⅝ to 65⅞@66. Oats—May 52⅛; Sept. 42 to 42⅛; July 48⅛. Pork—May 16.35; Sept. 16.65. Lard—May 9.37; July 9.52; Sept. 9.67. Ribs—July 8.90; May 8.85.

TO MAINTAIN the high standard of our Beaconsfield $3.00 Derbys, our factory rejects hundreds of hats which show tiny flaws, so small that one man out of a thousand could hardly detect them. These flaws are in no way harmful to the wear of the hat, but we say right here that our reputation for selling the best $3.00 Hat in Boston has been maintained by the close observance of the rule that nothing can be too good for our Beaconsfield $3.00 Derby. We offer these slightly imperfect hats at $2.00 each.

He Who Makes Good Soup, or Sells It, Is a Useful Citizen

He Who Eats Good Soup Every Day Is Wise and Takes Care of His Blood and Body. Soup Is an Economical Food; It Stimulates Digestion; It Is an Essential Part of Civilization.

Copyright, 1912, by American Journal Examiner.

There has been an important gathering of wholesale grocers of the United States to consider the question OF SOUP. Unable to accept an invitation to speak at this gathering, we shall deliver a brief sermon on soup in this column—where many millions of human beings will see it.

The people of the United States know too little about the value of soup, do not sufficiently understand how much it contributes to health, and entertain various foolish prejudices concerning it.

To begin with, scientists are agreed—and this is the very latest word of science—that soups properly prepared are the most valuable and important factors in digestion, AND REMEMBER THAT YOUR DIGESTION MAKES YOU WHAT YOU ARE.

The meat extract, the salts, the vegetable flavors in good soup act as direct stimulants upon all of the digestive apparatus of the body, causing a flow of the fluids that bring about digestion, creating a normal appetite, which is absolutely essential to digestion.

More than a million unfortunate human beings in America ruin their digestion and mucous membrane with a cocktail before each meal. If those unfortunates would substitute a plate of well made soup for that cocktail they would improve their health enormously, lengthen their lives, and save money as well.

The making of soups on a big scale has been reduced to a science in America. The home-made soup is often beyond the reach of people of small means and inconvenient to the rich. Boiling of joints and keeping up of "soup stock" is expensive under Beef Trust government, and awkward in modern homes.

But the manufacture of soups on a big and economical scale has been brought to perfection, so that as a food soup in America is now as economical as it is beneficial.

The individual cook or the big manufacturer that can prepare soup properly and economically is a treasure.

The grocer, wholesale or retail, who encourages the sale of soup is a useful citizen—and can do more for the health of his customers perhaps than the average doctor.

We advise fathers and mothers that do not yet know the value of a most important food to try the experiment of giving soup to their children at least once a day. The warm liquid brings the blood to the stomach, creating appetite and preparing the stomach and the alimentary canal for the process of digestion in a natural way. A moment's heating suffices to prepare a most important dish.

And when children form the habit of eating soup regularly at the beginning of a meal they are much less apt to form, later, the habit of taking cocktails regularly in order to bring about artificially and harmfully a craving for food—which the soup creates naturally and beneficially.

That is our sermon to the wholesale grocers on soup. We advise them to sell as much as possible of it, and we advise YOU to eat it once a day, at least.

California May Soon Boast a Taxless City

Scientific farming has been responsible for transforming many a sterile acre into a profitable one and for turning many a poor man into a wealthy one, and now, in its course of general improvement, it promises to give to San Diego, Cal., the unique title of the Taxless City.

Last Spring the city planted forty thousand Eucalyptus seedlings on a waste tract of seven thousand acres. So rapidly have these grown under scientific management that the citizens have hopes that their city may pay all its expenses from the proceeds.

Which seems to prove that cities, like individuals, have only to take advantage of their opportunities in order to become self-supporting.

LETTERS FROM AMERICAN READERS

THANKS FROM EVERETT

Editor AMERICAN:

On behalf of the school, and on my own account, I desire to thank you most heartily for the two fine pictures of the Everett High School pupils.

I was surprised and delighted to find each face clear and distinct in so large a group picture. Mr. Sears certainly did a fine piece of work.

I also wish to express my hearty appreciation of your article on Everett. Your reporter dealt in facts, and made those facts so attractive and comprehensive as to give a pleasing and accurate pen picture of our city. I am,

Very truly yours,
WILBUR J. ROCKWOOD.
Principal Everett High School.

FROM AN EX-SOLDIER

Editor AMERICAN:

Reading letters from an army girl and a New England girl in regard to our soldiers and sailors, and being a constant reader of your valuable paper, I would like to say in defence of our soldiers and sailors that I put in ten years and a half in the regular army and maintain that as a whole it is hard to find a better class of men anywhere in the world.

In the past fifteen years they have carried Old Glory all over the sea and earth, and have made a noble record for themselves. Of course we must admit that there are some bad ones, as well as there are anywhere else, but on account of the uniform they wear they are picked out from the rest and the whole are condemned for the actions of a few.

If some of those who are so ready to criticize the soldiers and sailors had to follow them on some of their campaigns they would not be so ready to find fault with them.

I have served in Cuba, the Philippines and China, and if I were not a married man now I should still be in the army.

A Cold Spell—Two Views By HAL COFFMAN

Abraham Lincoln Liked to Laugh

"If I Did Not Laugh, I Should Die," Said the Greatest of Americans, "and You Need This Medicine as Much as I Do."

A writer in one of the February magazines reminds us, in an interesting story about "The Greatest American Humorist," that Abraham Lincoln liked to laugh and was pleased when others laughed with him. We have absolutely no doubt that President Lincoln would have been delighted with the verses Mr. William F. Kirk has prepared for the "Valentine Joke Book," which will be given away in greater Boston next Sunday with every copy of the Boston Sunday AMERICAN.

Mr. Kirk, who writes about "Bobbie and His Pa" from time to time on the editorial page of the Boston AMERICAN, and whose "Adventures of Harold Hangover" is one of the funny features of the Sunday AMERICAN, calls his song "Don't Send Me No Lace Valentine!" We don't feel that we ought to give you ALL of this remarkable song, HERE, but a selection may whet your appetite for the Sunday AMERICAN'S "Valentine Joke Book." The chorus goes like this:

"Don't send me no lace valentine, with blossoms and with hearts;
Don't send me no lace valentine, full of them Cupid's darts.
I like them little cheap ones with the laugh in every line;
Send me your photo, darling! Be my comic valentine!"

You will find sixteen pages of real and delightful fun in the Sunday AMERICAN'S "Valentine Joke Book" and you will find—or you ought to find—a copy of the "Valentine Joke Book" with every copy of the Sunday AMERICAN in Greater Boston. Among the artists and special writers who have contributed to this wonderful entertainment—free to readers of the Sunday AMERICAN and absolutely denied to all others—might be mentioned Mr. Frederic Opper, Mr. Gus Mager, Mr. C. B. Quincy, Mr. Childe Harold, Mr. Lewis Allen, Mr. Sidney Smith, "Tad," and, last but not least, Mr. T. E. Powers, whose side-splitting number is called "The Packages That Got Mixed—A Valentine Tragedy."

In one word, there will be that in the Sunday AMERICAN'S "Valentine Joke Book" to bring hearty laughter from the chest of a graven image.

And isn't it good to laugh? Lincoln thought so, as we are reminded by the writer to whom reference has been made.

> A memorable day on which he tried to give his nearest advisers a laughing lesson was in September, '62. He had called the Cabinet together for a special purpose. After they were assembled—the story was told years afterwards by Secretary Stanton:
>
> "The President turned to us and said:
>
> "'Gentlemen, did you ever read anything from Artemus Ward?'
>
> "Not a member of the Cabinet smiled; as for myself I was angry and looked to see what the President meant. It seemed to me like buffoonery. He, however, decided to read to us a chapter from Artemus Ward, which he did with great deliberation. Having finished, he laughed heartily, without a member of the Cabinet joining in the laughter.
>
> "'Well,' he said, 'let's have another chapter,' and he read another chapter, to our great astonishment. I was considering whether I should rise and leave the meeting abruptly, when he threw the book down, heaved a long sigh, and said:
>
> "'Gentlemen, why don't you laugh? With the fearful strain that is upon me night and day, if I did not laugh I should die, and you need this medicine as much as I do.'
>
> "He then put his hand in his tall hat that sat on the table and pulled out a little paper."

The little paper was the Emancipation Proclamation!

Nobody who drops into a Sunday AMERICAN home next Sunday will feel called upon to say, "Why don't you laugh?" Rather will he take a chair, and talk about the weather, or the Presidential contest, or the high price of butter and things, until it is his turn to see the Sunday AMERICAN'S "Valentine Joke Book."

Bear in mind that the "Valentine Joke Book" costs you NOTHING. It comes ABSOLUTELY FREE in Greater Boston with the Boston Sunday AMERICAN!

MUST NEWPORT GO? The writer of a lively story in next Sunday's AMERICAN declares that city is doomed as a Summer resort because the Navy Department has designs upon the place. This will make them laugh up in Portsmouth, where everybody believes that the plan to abandon the smaller navy yards is due to the partiality of the navy set for "Society." An interesting story, nevertheless, to be found only in the Sunday AMERICAN.
